TOMORROW President Coolidge will dedicate a great war memorial in Kansas City. The monument, costing $2,000,000, consists of two fine buildings and a shaft 216 feet high, flanked by three high, massive walls.

The president will make a good speech, as usual. Many will hear it on the radio. It might end thus:

"This memorial shaft points to a sky in which we have no air fleet, and it points to a great danger."

ITALY'S new laws defending the Fascist government are as severe as laws with which the czar protected his person, vainly. Hard labor in the Italian penal colonies is the punishment for talking or writing against the government or its policies, or assailing the national credit.

History shows that when you take away free expression of opinion you take away the safety valve. If man can't talk they will act, therefore Britain lets them talk all they please.

Mussolini takes the other course, an interesting experiment for [illegible] century.

OKI[illegible] unused[illegible] supply the state for 26,000 years more.

But 26,000 years hence coal will be used for heat and power as little as whale oil is now used for light. Men used to wonder how they would feed when whales died out. We shall have to go back to candles, they said. But they went ahead to kerosene and electric light.

What Do You Know About Salad Making?

Canned foods lend themselves so readily to successful salad making that every housekeeper should endeavor to have in reserve a small stock of the fish, fruits and vegetables which are most popular for this form of cookery, for the emergencies which arise in even the most perfectly managed households.

With a bottle or two of prepared salad dressing in addition she may in the twinkling of an eye add a salad course to her menu and such a salad course, too, as would not be possible were she to rely solely on the green goods available in the market.

But to do this she will need the recipe booklet on canned foods which this bureau has for distribution. This booklet tells how to prepare 25 salads and 10 different salad dressings.

It is yours for the asking. Just enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

ACCUSED MEN IN NAVAL OIL RESERVE CASE ARE ARRAIGNED

DENY CHARGES

Indicted for Alleged Conspiracy to Defraud Government.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Arraigned before a court after nearly five years of continuous litigation, Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, and Edward [illegible] pleaded not guilty to indictments charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government in the leasing of naval oil reserves in California.

A. A. [illegible] Doheny concluded.

The central figures in the "oil scandal" were arraigned in district supreme court, on the first of four indictments growing out of the leasing of the naval oil reserves by Fall to Doheny and to Harry F. Sinclair. Today's pleadings concerned only Fall and Doheny and the Elk Hills reserve in California.

The arraignments were quickly concluded. Attorneys for the defendants waived the reading of the lengthy indictment, and both Fall and Doheny replied in loud, firm tones, when their names were called:

"Not guilty."

Doherty's counsel consisted of Frank J. Hogan, Harold Walker and J. J. Cotter of Washington and Fred R. Kellogg of New York.

Defendants In Good Spirits.

Both Fall and Doheny appeared in good spirits and appeared confident as to the outcome of their case. Old friends for many years, they chatted together amiably as they waited for the arrival of Justice Hoehling.

Today's arraignment was a necessary formality to the trial of the two men on the indictment, due to start here on Nov. 22.

There are three other indictments in the oil cases—one naming Fall and Sinclair for conspiracy; another charging Fall, Doheny and the latter's son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., with conspiracy and bribery; and another charging Sinclair with contempt of the senate for declining to answer on these indictments.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED

Colder Weather Tonight; 60-mile Gale Whips Lake

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—Flurries of snow and temperatures ranging a few degrees below freezing accompanied the first severe manifestation of winter here today.

Sporadic snow storms were reported in other northern Ohio cities. The weather prediction was for colder weather tonight.

AUTOPSY CHIEF IN HALL-MILLS CASE QUIZZED

Dr. Hegeman Faces Merciless Barrage From Prosecutor.

THROAT WAS CUT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURT HOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 10.—Dr. R. F. Hegeman, of Somerville, who four years ago performed the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer slain with the Rev. Edward W. Hall in De Russey's lane, today was subjected to a merciless barrage of questions by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson when he testified he did not know whether the young woman's tongue and larynx were cut out by the murderers.

Dr. Hegeman was asked to tell the jury just what he found when he made the autopsy on Mrs. Mills after she was slain on September 14, 1922.

Shot Three Times.

I found that Mrs. Mills had been shot three times in the head, each bullet penetrating the brain, one bullet passing through the head, the other remaining in the head.

"Her throat was cut, apparently from left to right, all but four inches in the mid-section of the back of the neck. The muscles were severed down to the spinal column. The wind pipe and gullet were cut."

Dr. Otto H. Schultze, autopsy expert, of New York, who performed an autopsy on October 28 this year, after Mrs. Mill's body had been exhumed, testified that the tongue was missing when he made his autopsy. Shaking his finger at Dr. Hegeman, Simpson asked:

"Did you find her tongue cut out?"

"I didn't open her mouth."

"You say her neck was nearly severed, her head nearly cut off, and yet you say you can't tell whether her tongue was cut out?"

"I saw no such evidence," said Dr. Hegeman, shifting uneasily on his chair.

"Do you say that the tongue and the larynx were present at that time?"

"No, sir."

"Did you put in your notes these organs were absent?"

"No, sir."

COOLIDGE GOES TO MISSOURI AND KANSAS ON 24-HOUR TRIP

President Will Visit Kansas City in Two States.

BUSY TOMORROW

Nation's Chief Will Dedicate $2,000,000 War Memorial.

By George E. Durno.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—The train bearing the President and Mrs. Coolidge to Kansas City arrived in Pittsburgh at 8:39 a. m. today from Washington, and departed at 8:48 a. m. over the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania railroad.

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—Tomorrow, for the second time in history, a president will visit Kansas City, Kansas.

President Coolidge en route to Kansas City, Missouri, to dedicate the $2,000,000 liberty memorial erected by the residents of that city to the veterans of the World war, has agreed, following the ceremonies, to cross the [illegible] visit the other Kansas City, located in the state after which it is named.

It will mark the first time that present executive has even touched in the state of Kansas since assuming the presidency.

Experience Touch of Winter.

The presidential party faces a full day and night aboard train before reaching its destination. Apparently, those on the special train are about to experience their first touch of winter, for weather reports have told of snow and extreme cold in Kansas veering rapidly east. All members of the party had been so warned shortly before starting from the damp, murky warmth of Washington.

The president faces an exceedingly busy seven hours tomorrow in Kansas City, Mo. Arriving shortly after breakfast he will motor to the Muhlebach hotel for a short rest. Then comes the dedicatory exercises at the war memorial Following is a luncheon and then the visit to the sister city across the river. At 3:30 in the afternoon, he departs for the capital.

In addition to Mrs. Coolidge, the president is accompanied by Secretary of War Davis, Secretary Everett Sanders, Col. S. A. Cheney and Captain Wilson Brown, military and naval aides, and Major J. F. Coupal, official physician.

Newell Man Faces Charge of Selling Stolen Automobile

August Ramonde, Newell grocer, has been released on $500 bond by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley until Nov. 30 upon charges of selling a stolen automobile, preferred by Howard Parsons, East End motor car dealer.

Ramonde claims that the bill of sale for the car which was sold to Parsons is held by an out-of-town discount company.

The car, it is alleged, is one of the hundred or more which were stolen in the Pittsburgh district about a year ago and sold in East Liverpool, Steubenville and other eastern Ohio towns. Ramonde denies that he knew the car was stolen when he purchased it. The car was recently seized by Pennsylvania authorities and returned to its owner in Pittsburgh.

Senate Meets as Impeachment Court; Accused is Absent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—For the tenth time in American history the senate met today as a court of impeachment to try former Federal Judge George W. English, of Illinois, on charges of high crimes and misdemeanors in office—but without a prisoner at the bar.

As Judge English resigned from the federal bench a week ago, administration leaders agreed to adjourn the court until December 13 to allow the house time in which to recommend dismissal of the charges.

This procedure would follow a precedent established in 1799 when impeachment charges against William Blount, a senator from Tennessee, were dismissed after he resigned from the senate.

OHIO FARMER FOUND GUILTY OF UXORICIDE

MERCY REFUSED

Scott Workman Admits Brutal Murder of Wife.

BATAVIA, O., Nov. 10.—"Guilty of first degree murder without recommendation of mercy."

That was the verdict hanging over the head of Scott Workman, New Richmond farm tenant, today, following the report of the jury late yesterday, shortly after the conclusion of his trial for the killing of his wife, Nora, last August.

Workman had admitted he fired three shots into his wife's body while she was nursing an eight months' old baby at her breast. He pleaded for mercy, however, on the grounds that he was insanely intoxicated at the time.

It was the first verdict of first degree without a mercy recommendation in Clermont county for 36 years.

A motion for a new trial will be heard Saturday.

SCOUT COUNCIL MEETS NOV. 18

Reports of Harry A. Wilson, county scout executive, and other officers and committees will be submitted. Officers will be elected.

15 CHILDREN KILLED WHEN SCHOOLHOUSE IS HURLED 150 FEET AWAY

With Death Toll Expected to be Increased to 20 Before Nightfall, Stunned Residents of Charles County Begin to Reconstruct Order Out of Chaos.

HOUSES FLATTENED, TREES UPROOTED AND VEHICLES SCATTERED BY TWISTER

Tornado, Striking With Demoniac Fury Leaves in Its Wake Narrow Strip About 12 Miles Long and Scarcely 500 Yards Wide Through Placid Countryside Near La Plata.

LA PLATA, Md., Nov. 10.—With a death list of 18, which probably will be increased to 20 by nightfall, stunned residents of Charles county began today to reconstruct some order out of the chaos that swept down from the skies late yesterday in the form of a savage, twisting tornado.

It left in its wake a narrow strip about 12 miles long and scarcely 500 yards wide through this placid Maryland countryside, and made of it a shambles which held the bodies of 15 school children and three adults, and more than 40 injured.

Houses were flattened, trees uprooted, vehicles scattered, but the twister reserved most of its fury for the little frame schoolhouse that stood atop a knoll on the edge of the village. There it struck with demoniac fury, lifted the two-room structure from its foundation and hurled it 150 feet away a mass of broken timbers in a grove of trees.

There were 55 children at their desks in the schoolhouse when the twister struck. Fifteen of them are dead today, and a dozen others are hurt [illegible]

One Pupil Unscathed.

There was but one pupil in the school who escaped entirely unscathed in the destruction of the building—little "Johnny" Burr, 11. He had a desk near a window. When the building began to shake and there was the first rumble of cracking timbers, Johnny jumped out of the window and ran for help.

Before he was a hundred yards away he looked back and saw the building literally lifted from its foundation, bumped over the ground in a series of grinding roars, and then dumped into the grove of trees. Johnny legged it all the faster. He staggered into the home of the Rev. W. S. Heighman, nearby, and blurted:

"The schoolhouse has blown away. Telephone everybody."

10 C. & P. ORE CARS IN WRECK

STEUBENVILLE, Nov. 10.—Passenger and freight traffic over the Cleveland-Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad was at a standstill throughout the night, as the result of a train of 10 ore cars being wrecked at Stratton, 10 miles east of this city. Transfer of passengers to Cleveland, Pittsburgh and other points was effected at the scene early today. Tracks were torn up for a distance of 200 yards, but no trainmen were injured, although all 10 cars overturned.

TENEMENT FIRE CLAIMS VICTIM

Connellsville, Pa., Man Dies; Woman is Missing.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10—One man was fatally injured, a woman was reported missing, and a three story building was destroyed by fire here early today.

Robert Freed, 35, tenant on the third floor of the old Newmeyer opera house here, was overcome by smoke and died an hour after being removed from the blazing building by firemen.

A Miss Guiler, who recently rented an apartment in the building, was missing following a check-up of the list of 25 tenants, all of whom fled scantily clad when flames menaced their apartments.

August Ramonde, Newell grocer, has been released on $500 bond by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley until Nov. 30 upon charges of selling a stolen automobile, preferred by Howard Parsons, East End motor car dealer.

Ramonde claims that the bill of sale for the car which was sold to Parsons is held by an out-of-town discount company.

The car, it is alleged, is one of the hundred or more which were stolen in the Pittsburgh district about a year ago and sold in East Liverpool, Steubenville and other eastern Ohio towns. Ramonde denies that he knew the car was stolen when he purchased it. The car was recently seized by Pennsylvania authorities and returned to its owner in Pittsburgh.

Senate Meets as Impeachment Court; Accused is Absent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—For the tenth time in American history the senate met today as a court of impeachment to try former Federal Judge George W. English, of Illinois, on charges of high crimes and misdemeanors in office—but without a prisoner at the bar.

As Judge English resigned from the federal bench a week ago, administration leaders agreed to adjourn the court until December 13 to allow the house time in which to recommend dismissal of the charges.

This procedure would follow a precedent established in 1799 when impeachment charges against William Blount, a senator from Tennessee, were dismissed after he resigned from the senate.

OHIO FARMER FOUND GUILTY OF UXURICIDE

MERCY REFUSED

Scott Workman Admits Brutal Murder of Wife.

BATAVIA, O., Nov. 10.—"Guilty of first degree murder without recommendation of mercy."

That was the verdict hanging over the head of Scott Workman, New Richmond farm tenant, today, following the report of the jury late yesterday, shortly after the conclusion of his trial for the killing of his wife, Nora, last August.

Workman had admitted he fired three shots into his wife's body while she was nursing an eight months' old baby at her breast. He pleaded for mercy, however, on the grounds that he was insanely intoxicated at the time.

It was the first verdict of first degree without a mercy recommendation in Clermont county for 36 years.

A motion for a new trial will be heard Saturday.

With Death Toll Expected to be Increased to 20 Before Nightfall, Stunned Residents of Charles County Begin to Reconstruct Order Out of Chaos.

HOUSES FLATTENED, TREES UPROOTED AND VEHICLES SCATTERED BY TWISTER

Tornado, Striking With Demoniac Fury Leaves in Its Wake Narrow Strip About 12 Miles Long and Scarcely 500 Yards Wide Through Placid Countryside Near La Plata.

LA PLATA, Md., Nov. 10.—With a death list of 18, which probably will be increased to 20 by nightfall, stunned residents of Charles county began today to reconstruct some order out of the chaos that swept down from the skies late yesterday in the form of a savage, twisting tornado.

It left in its wake a narrow strip about 12 miles long and scarcely 500 yards wide through this placid Maryland countryside, and made of it a shambles which held the bodies of 15 school children and three adults, and more than 40 injured.

Houses were flattened, trees uprooted, vehicles scattered, but the twister reserved most of its fury for the little frame schoolhouse that stood atop a knoll on the edge of the village. There it struck with demoniac fury, lifted the two-room structure from its foundation and hurled it 150 feet away a mass of broken timbers in a grove of trees.

There were 55 children at their desks in the schoolhouse when the twister struck. Fifteen of them are dead today, and a dozen others are hurt so seriously that [illegible]

One Pupil Unscathed.

There was but one pupil in the school who escaped entirely unscathed in the destruction of the building—little "Johnny" Burr, 11. He had a desk near a window. When the building began to shake and there was the first rumble of cracking timbers, Johnny jumped out of the window and ran for help.

Before he was a hundred yards away he looked back and saw the building literally lifted from its foundation, bumped over the ground in a series of grinding roars, and then dumped into the grove of trees. Johnny legged it all the faster. He staggered into the home of the Rev. W. S. Heighman, nearby, and blurted:

"The schoolhouse has blown away. Telephone everybody."

10 C. & P. ORE CARS IN WRECK

STEUBENVILLE, Nov. 10.—Passenger and freight traffic over the Cleveland-Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad was at a standstill throughout the night, as the result of a train of 10 ore cars being wrecked at Stratton, 10 miles east of this city. Transfer of passengers to Cleveland, Pittsburgh and other points was effected at the scene early today. Tracks were torn up for a distance of 200 yards, but no trainmen were injured, although all 10 cars overturned.

TENEMENT FIRE CLAIMS VICTIM

Connellsville, Pa., Man Dies; Woman is Missing.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10—One man was fatally injured, a woman was reported missing, and a three story building was destroyed by fire here early today.

A Miss Guiler, who recently rented an apartment in the building, was missing following a check-up of the list of 25 tenants, all of whom fled scantily clad when flames menaced their apartments.

BOWDLER CASE IS APPEALED

Former Attorney Here Fights Prison Sentence.

Cases of A. E. Bowdler, former East Liverpool attorney, and Gordon D. Ulyatt, Wheeling investment bankers, who were recently sentenced to terms of five years in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville and to pay fines of $5,000 each for violation of the state speculative securities act, have been carried to the state supreme court on error.

Judge J. Harold Brennen, in the Ohio county circuit court at Wheeling, has dismissed writs of error granted recently in connection with the conviction of Bowdler and Ulyatt, officers in the Real Estate Guarantee Mortgage company. Had the writs been allowed to stand the two men would have received new trials. The cases had been carried to the circuit court from the intermediate court where the convictions were voted by a jury early last January after an 18-day trial.

Bowdler and Ulyatt were charged with mismanagement of the funds belonging to the mortgage company, hundreds of investors in the Panhandle district of West Virginia losing when the institution was closed upon orders of the West Virginia state banking commissioner. The collapse of the concern occurred about four years ago.

Stays of execution have been granted pending the action of the state's highest tribunal.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells — builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

A Special Showing of Frocks For Little Women

These fashions for little women have been established on the statistical fact that about 60 per cent of women are little women; and on the experience that many women of short stature find Misses' Models too scantily proportioned for their fuller figures and too juvenile in style. These little women's fashions are so designed that the lines of the garments are those most effective on the short figure.

Practically no alterations because of narrow shoulder effect, allowance for arm muscles or flesh, proper sleeve length, liberal allowances at hips and correct adaptable dress length.

In Satins and Crepes. Black, navy, chanel red, forest green, brown and tans. Sizes 14 1-2 to 26 1-2. Priced from $24.95 to $39.75.

BOOK FIVE—VIII.

They gave him, of course, only the most trifling assignments at the start. But the least of them thrilled him. He loved the voice of the city editor, rasping "Hamill;" the dash to some out-of-the-way place to get some unimportant item; the privilege of mentioning the name of the Log by way of identification. He loved to return and seat himself at one of those battered typewriters, with his shoes hooked about the legs of his chair and his body hunched over, and watch words leap out in lines from the tips of his fingers. This was fulfillment, in small degree, of his secret ambition. Writing. Putting things down on paper. Seeing them in print. . . . It means much to be able to open an edition to a certain page, and point, and say, "That's mine," even though "that" might be nothing more vital than a string of obituary notices collected over the 'phone or a paragraph beginning, "An exhibition of useful and fancy articles made by inmates of the Hudson Home for the Blind" . . .

Unfortunately, however, work did not fill every waking hour. His evenings were miserable. He spent them at home, reading a little, brooding much, stubbornly thwarting the efforts of his friends to provide him with entertainment. "For gosh sakes, Jock, anybody'd think you were in mourning!" Peg wailed, after her tenth invitation to Washington Square had been turned down. To which Jock replied—though not aloud "I am."

As a matter of fact his avoidance of companionship was less in mourning than in self-defense. He feared that people might try to talk to him about Yvonne, and as yet he winced whenever that spot was touched by any finger—whether curiously prodding or gently compassionate made no difference. In this respect his mother was a source of satisfaction, for she had the great good sense to behave as though nothing whatever had happened. He appreciated this the more because he suspected she was glad of his catastrophe, and because he thought, since he had given her but the barest outline of it, she must be burning with unasked questions. He could not guess that Mrs. Hamill felt no need of questions; that her understanding was far deeper than his own, and her new thought of Yvonne a mixture of gratitude, admiration, and something akin to love. "Some day," she told Saunders Lincoln, "—not for a long, long time, of course, but some day, I'm going to let Jock know what a beautiful thing it was that that girl did."

IX.

He saw Peg only four or five times in as many months, and Cecily he did not see at all. Through Peg and Johnny, who had evidently adopted her as one of their intimates, he kept track of her goings and comings. She was at Palm Beach with her parents. No, she wasn't married yet, but Bill Burnholme had followed her down there. . . . She was back from Palm Beach and would sail for Europe in tw oweeks. (During those two weeks he telephoned twice "just to say hello," but did not find her in.) . . . She was in Europe. She was having a wonderful time. Her letters, Peg said, spoke enthusiastically of some young French count she had met at Deauville. She expected to return to the states the last of May. . . . She had returned, and was visiting friends in Cleveland. No, she wasn't married yet. No, nobody knew when she intended to be married. Yes, Bill Burnholme was still reported to be slavishly attentive. One never knew, of course . . .

In June Johnny began to talk vacation plans to Jock.

They were lunching one day, as they often did, at a little cafe across the alley from the Log office where the sandwiches were ready to serve and the beer as "near" as could be expected. And Johnny said thickly, through a mouthful, "When you gonna take your vacation?"

"I don't rate one. I've only worked four months and a half."

"Sure you rate one! May be only four months and a half, but you've worked harder than any other six men do in a year! Don't think the old man doesn't know it, either. He'll see that you get a week off at least, any time you want it."

"I'm in no hurry," said Jock.

Johnny regarded him solemnly over the rim of his mug (supplied by the management to heighten the illusion). "Listen to me, boy," he ordered, setting the mug down with a thump. "My well-earned rest starts a week from Saturday. Peg and I are going to spend it down near New London, where dad has a summer place which he's agreed to turn over to us, and we're going to take a bunch along for a houseparty. And you're coming too, d'you hear?"

"I hear," Jock smiled.

"Meaning, 'but won't obey,' huh? Listen, Jock—"

"I know what you're going to say. It'll be a peach of a go, of course, but—thanks just the same. Ask me again some time, Johnny. Sometime when I'm—more in the mood."

"If ever!" Johnny said despairingly. "Look here, Jock there's no damn sense in your acting like this. It's all nonsense. Nearly five months since the thing happened — isn't it about time you staged a return to normalcy?"

There was no answer, and for some moments the pair munched and gulped in silence. Then Johnny said, "Well, if you change your mind, the latch-string's out, remember."

"Thanks. But not this time, I guess."

Cecily's going to be there—"

"Is she?" Jock queried politely.

Armistice Day Hopes

East Liverpool will observe Armistice Day tomorrow with six special programs, not to mention dancing parties and other features by fraternal societies and others. Church bells will be tolled and factory whistles and fire sirens sounded for a five-minute period preceding the truce hour—11 a. m.—followed by two minutes of silence in schools and business houses, through arrangements made by the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Veterans of Foreign Wars plan a street parade and exercises during the forenoon, followed by a dinner and afternoon football game and evening program. Hugh K. Martin, of Columbus, past department commander, will be the guest of honor at the American Legion banquet and entertainment in the evening, while Josiah Wedgewood lodge, Sons of St. George, and the sisterhood of B'Nai Israel temple will serve dinners, the Elks' lodge men will be hosts to 75 children of the McCollough-Jefferson County home and Knights of Columbus have an "open house" program for members and friends.

It is eight years since the World war ended and more than 12 years since it began. This anniversary is now observed throughout the allied countries chiefly to honor the men and women who lost their lives in that war. Its observance also emphasizes the ending of a war that was tearing civilization to pieces.

Yet statesmen are still struggling to solve some of the problems which arose from the war or which the war was expected to solve. Perhaps there is a little more hope in their efforts these days than formerly, in spite of wars and squabbles in many quarters of the globe.

Hope lies in the fact that certain old barriers formerly considered inevitable and unalterable are being torn down, that various nations are getting together on problems of commerce and economics that formerly stood apart in these matters.

Since misunderstandings and jealousy in these fields have usually led to wars, it seems possible that understanding and mutual helpfulness may postpone to a more remote future the resumption of military warfare as a means of accomplishing anything worth while for any nation.

If the postponement could be made permanent, the world would gain greatly, but not all nations or all leaders or all private citizens have yet reached that conclusion.

The Lucky Farm Lad

Country boys usually envy city boys, and city boys usually think country boys have a hard time of it. Then the country boys move to town and beat the city boys in the game of life. How is this contradiction to be reconciled?

The Saskatchewan Farmer explains it very clearly. The farm boys actually have greater advantage than the city boys. On the whole, they get a superior training, little as they realize that fact. They learn their responsibilities as members of the family and they gain the self-reliance and confidence that come from a mastery of every-day tasks on the farm.

"The reason that the country boy does so well in town, and so often climbs to high positions in business, professional or public life, is not that he has any more brains or native ability than the city chap, but that he has learned from a child to accept responsibility, to regard hard work as the natural and proper duty of every citizen, with play coming only after the work was done. The careless, irresponsible lives of the majority of city children, handicap them in the battle of life."

This is probably truer today than it ever was before. Wherefore it may be taken for granted that the cities are destined one of these times to have a victorious invasion of country boys on a scale heretofore unknown.

The average country boy seems to be working just about as responsibly as ever, with better facilities for learning than he used to have, and the city boy is disposed to take things easier than ever before.

Early Christmas

Before the Thanksgiving turkey has been ordered or the menu even planned, the Christmas display is upon us and the stores are urging people to shop now. It may seem like rushing things a little, but perhaps it isn't such a bad idea. At any rate, it shows the tendency to get these things done and out of the way.

The campaign for shopping early, on the part of the stores, has been aided greatly by the postoffice plea to mail early.

If the Christmas list is made out now and the shopping completed, or nearly so, in the next two weeks, a good many individuals will have an added reason for being thankful when they sit down to the time-honored feast on November 25.

In some cities pedestrians have a right to step into the street to hail a trolley car 200 feet away. But most of them have discretion enough not to do it.

"Give light," said Dante, "and the people will find their own way." But most of our motorists are giving the fellows ahead so much light they can't see a blamed thing.

Great Britain is the only country that ever was able to live and pay its debts without working.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—No Mayor has so blended with the spirit of Broadway as Jimmy Walker and this picturesque, snappily dressed young man has fitted snugly into the White Way decor without seemingly losing one whit of his dignity.

Walker is fond of the theater, boxing and the night clubs. He is a ringside seater, but he has happily not neglected his chores at city hall. He works hard and plays hard and somehow this frail young genius recalls Edna Millay's lines:

My candle burns at both ends;
It will not last the night;
But ah, my foes, and oh, my friends—
It gives a lovely light!

So far Mayor Walker has held up under the gruelling grind but anxious friends have pleaded with him to take more rest. He loves the crowds and the places where the chandeliers blaze brightest, because he is so thoroughly and vibrantly alive.

From Van Wyck to Hylan, New York has never had a real mixer at city hall. Walker makes up for it. He is adaptable in all gatherings. Suave and genial he wins any crowd but those who mistake his geniality for vacillation soon find he has a flinty reserve that is chilling. The iron fist is velvet sheathed.

Like Broadway, he is gay and a trifle gaudy in dress. His shirts with collars to match may be pink, coffee brown or canary yellow and his lapel usually flowers with a rose. His boon companion in relaxing hours is Billy Seaman, a likeable scion of a wealthy family who loves the lights.

Walker is not a "sport" in the meaning of that term. His pleasure jaunts are innocent diversions and quite respectable. They merely satiate his thirst for conversation, laughter and companionship. His worst enemies could not intimate fairly he is neglecting the city he loves so whole heartedly.

Speaking of gaiety, I have received a telegraphic invitation to an affair which reads: "Come at eight. Dancing, groceries but no bathtubs." Sounds like a tame affair for New York.

And on the other hand a swooning lady was carried from one of those apartment house buildings aristocratically known by only a number the other night. She had been attending a party and had wrenched an ankle playing a hilarious game known as blind man's buff.

Most of those affairs starting out to be hey! hey! parties these days curl up at the first quarter post. The potency of the gin perhaps but whatever it is the guests appear to reel home before midnight. They are faintly conscious of the agonizing morning to come and, gosh, how they dread it!

All the bootleggers are issuing typewritten screeds to customers to buy early because a holiday shortage is apparent. The old wolf cry with the usual result. And the usual bad hooch. Still liquor must have been potent in other days which recalls Bill Nye's famous line: "Yesterday I made several New Year's calls, I am told."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Beauty Shop Business.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Five years ago a prosperous southern city of some 20,000 population had but one beauty shop or hairdressing establishment, and it had just opened for business. Today it has 18 such shops.

This is cited by a Washington authority as a fair illustration of the rate at which the business of purveying to the toilet requirements of milady has expanded in the last few years. It has been a phenomenal growth. Official figures have not yet been compiled that will show what American women are spending in the course of a year for manicures, massages, hair-cutting, hairdressing, shampoos, cosmetics, and all other aids to beauty, but it is estimated that it will run so far into the millions that the business may almost be classed as one of the country's major industries.

It is known, also, that many men and women are growing rich in the business, and that what is practically a new field of employment has been opened up—new in the sense that it affords remunerative work for thousands where but scores were employed when the last decennial census was taken.

There are schools in all the larger cities where girls and women—and some men—take regular courses in training for this kind of work. One such institution in Washington has turned out 1,500 operators, as they are called, in the last four years, and it is one of the interesting features of this rapidly expanding business that every graduate from these schools means an almost immediate demand for additional trained workers.

This comes about because almost every graduate, after leaving school and taking a position for a few weeks or months to get more practical experience, opens up a shop and goes into business for herself, where she will require assistants and operators to a number dependent upon the degree of her success, and these employes in turn open shops of their own, creating still further jobs, and so on on presumptively until the limit is reached. What that limit is no one undertakes to predict at present.

How It Worked In One City.

In the southern city referred to, all its present 18 beauty shops grew out of one. A graduate of the Washington school opened up the first place, and almost immediately sent for three or four trained assistants. The latter saw opportunities for themselves and as soon as each had acquired a clientele or following among the women of the city she set out to be a proprietor instead of a hired hand. In this way, itis said, the proprietors of all the added 17 shops passed through the first one.

In the larger cities new beauty shops have been and are being opened at a proportionate rate and old ones are being doubled, trebled, and quadrupled in capacity. Some of them are fairly mammoth in size and most luxuriously equipped and appointed, anu some of the more enterprising or more speculatively inclined of the proprietors have several establishments, a few of them as many as 15 or 20.

All of them seem to have all the business they can handle. Women customers find that they have to be as careful about making their appointments for treatments of various kinds as they do about their social engagements, and many of them have come to the point of having a regular hour at their favorite shop once or twice a week.

There are so many things that milady must have done regularly if she is to keep pace with the mad scramble for beauty! Her nails must be manicured and polished at least once a week. She must have a massage—a facial, as it is known in the vernacular of the profession—at least that often, too, and oftener if she is going in for many all-light parties and dances. Her hair must be shampooed at frequent intervals, and trimmed, and marcelled, or water-waved, or otherwise dressed just as regularly. If she goes in for a "permanent" she usually finds that the most permanent thing about it is the care that must be taken of it. And all the time she must be on the alert to make sure that no new cream, lotion, or other beautifier comes on the market that she does not learn about promptly and try out.

And while prohibition and bootleggers may be the ever-predominant topic of conversation among men and in mixed companies, wherever the fair sex hold forth among themselves, hairdressing and the other arts of the beauty shops are discussed quite as avidly, world without end. Eminent specialists are compared, a new artist in a particular line is given the word-of-mouth advertising that frequently makes him or her the vogue, new treatments are recommended, and long stories are told of experiences that are as thrilling—to the tellers, at least—as the yarns they used to spin about their "operations" when they went under the surgeon's knife.

Not All Are Successful.

In spite of the tremendous volume of business that there seems to be for the beauty shops, not all are successful. Many an ambitious operator who tries going into business for herself finds that she can not make the grade. She discovers that success is not assured merely because she has pleased her customers. Skill and an engaging personality are not enough. She must have business ability of no mean order, and it is said that that is a rarer asset than either of the others mentioned. Failing to make the grade, she must go back to working for some one else, and the staffs of the older well established shops invariably include a number of operators who are able to regale their clients with stories of "what happened "when I was in business for myself."

Beauty shop operators, on the average, are paid from $18 and $20 up to as high as $40 a week, and in addition receive commissions on the creams, lotions, and other cosmetics which they sell. In many shops their incomes are augmented by tips, which in the case of an especially proficient and well-liked operator may easily double her salary. In a few shops tipping is not permitted, and of course there are numerous customers who are not particularly generous with their gratuities. On the whole, however, earnings are a bit higher than they would get in any other position they are capable of filling, or for which they could equip themselves as easily or in as short a schooling or apprenticeship, and it does not take them long to accumulate the bankroll that tempts them to the great adventure.

They might not be so hasty about embarking in business on their own

Yet, I think the best line of all was when a film magnate bidding farewell to Maurice Maeterlinck enroute to Hollywood to try his hand at films said, "I hope you make good Mr. Maeterlinck."

One such institution in Washington has turned out 1,500 operators, as they are called, in the last four years, and it is one of the interesting features of this rapidly expanding business that every graduate from these schools means an almost immediate demand for additional trained workers.

This comes about because almost every graduate, after leaving school and taking a position for a few weeks or months to get more practical experience, opens up a shop and goes into business for herself, where she will require assistants and operators to a number dependent upon the degree of her success, and these employes in turn open shops of their own, creating still further jobs, and so on on presumptively until the limit is reached. What that limit is no one undertakes to predict at present.

How It Worked In One City.

In the southern city referred to, all its present 18 beauty shops grew out of one. A graduate of the Washington school opened up the first place, and almost immediately sent for three or four trained assistants. The latter saw opportunities for themselves and as soon as each had acquired a clientele or following among the women of the city she set out to be a proprietor instead of a hired hand. In this way, itis said, the proprietors of all the added 17 shops passed through the first one.

In the larger cities new beauty shops have been and are being opened at a proportionate rate and old ones are being doubled, trebled, and quadrupled in capacity. Some of them are fairly mammoth in size and most luxuriously equipped and appointed, and some of the more enterprising or more speculatively inclined of the proprietors have several establishments, a few of them as many as 15 or 20.

All of them seem to have all the business they can handle. Women customers find that they have to be as careful about making their appointments for treatments of various kinds as they do about their social engagements, and many of them have come to the point of having a regular hour at their favorite shop once or twice a week.

There are so many things that milady must have done regularly if she is to keep pace with the mad scramble for beauty! Her nails must be manicured and polished at least once a week. She must have a massage—a facial, as it is known in the vernacular of the profession—at least that often, too, and oftener if she is going in for many all-light parties and dances. Her hair must be shampooed at frequent intervals, and trimmed, and marcelled, or water-waved, or otherwise dressed just as regularly. If she goes in for a "permanent" she usually finds that the most permanent thing about it is the care that must be taken of it. And all the time she must be on the alert to make sure that no new cream, lotion, or other beautifier comes on the market that she does not learn about promptly and try out.

And while prohibition and bootleggers may be the ever-predominant topic of conversation among men and in mixed companies, wherever the fair sex hold forth among themselves, hairdressing and the other arts of the beauty shops are discussed quite as avidly, world without end. Eminent specialists are compared, a new artist in a particular line is given the word-of-mouth advertising that frequently makes him or her the vogue, new treatments are recommended, and long stories are told of experiences that are as thrilling—to the tellers, at least—as the yarns they used to spin about their "operations" when they went under the surgeon's knife.

Not All Are Successful.

In spite of the tremendous volume of business that there seems to be for the beauty shops, not all are successful. Many an ambitious operator who tries going into business for herself finds that she can not make the grade. She discovers that success is not assured merely because she has pleased her customers. Skill and an engaging personality are not enough. She must have business ability of no mean order, and it is said that that is a rarer asset than either of the others mentioned. Failing to make the grade, she must go back to working for some one else, and the staffs of the older well established shops invariably include a number of operators who are able to regale their clients with stories of what happened "when I was in business for myself."

Beauty shop operators, on the average, are paid from $18 and $20 up to as high as $40 a week, and in addition receive commissions on the creams, lotions, and other cosmetics which they sell. In many shops their incomes are augmented by tips, which in the case of an especially proficient and well-liked operator may easily double her salary. In a few shops tipping is not permitted, and of course there are numerous customers who are not particularly generous with their gratuities. On the whole, however, earnings are a bit higher than they would get in any other position they are capable of filling, or for which they could equip themselves as easily or in as short a schooling or apprenticeship, and it does not take them long to accumulate the bankroll that tempts them to the great adventure.

They might not be so hasty about embarking in business on their own if they knew or would believe what the head of a Washington school says is true—that the average small shop must have enough business to keep three operators busy every minute of the day if it is to pay expenses.

One development of the remarkable growth of the beauty shop business is an agitation in several states for legislation that would require operators to pass examinations and take out licenses, but it is not regarded as likely that this movement will make any appreciable headway for a few years, at least.

WELLSVILLE MILL PLANS $500,000 IMPROVEMENTS

WORK STARTED HERE ON NEW FURNACE UNITS

ONE-YEAR JOB

Ten Units Will be Added to American Sheet Plant.

Officials of the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant here today began the supervision of work on the reconstruction of two sheet and pair furnace units, marking the first step in the possible expenditure of perhaps a half million dollars within the next year or so in this particular line of mill activity.

Inauguration of the reconstruction work program which, it is said, is really a continuation of an improvement program that has seen the expenditure of probably a million dollars in the last few years, confirms the impression that the Wellsville mill, in the future, will be one of the busy units of the United States Steel corporation.

The local plant carries a battery of 10 furnace units, each unit consisting of a sheet mill and a pair furnace. Workmen today began the dismantling of two of these units, leaving eight in operation.

In their stead will be constructed new furnaces of the latest, improved type for the heating of high grade sheet. It is expected that several months will be required to complete the job, and the improvement of both tonnage output and quality will be the direct result, inasmuch as the new type furnace will permit the working of bigger sheets.

Units five and six were selected as the first two of the 10 for reconstruction.

It is possible that the job, for these two units, may mean the expenditure of between $60,000 and $100,000. In the event that the eight other units are reconstructed the total would reach in the neighborhood of half a million dollars or less.

The work on units five and six is the first actual step in the reconstructive program.

Eight mills have been in operation at the local plant, on a 100 per cent basis, which means 16 turns a week.

Business conditions at the present time, it is said, point to a continuance of the practically full time program in the future. The expenditure of between a half and a million dollars in the last several years, over $270,000 of which went into annealing furnaces in 1924, attests to the fact, it is pointed out, that the mill is not likely to be permitted much idleness.

TAKES EASTERN GIRL AS BRIDE

Marriage of Miss Helen R. Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eddy, of Frenchtown, and Charles Van Tilberg, of Wellsville, was solemnized on Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church at Frenchtown, Pa.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. G. Van Tilberg, pastor of the Frenchtown Methodist church, and a brother of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. J. S. Tarvis, pastor of Frenchtown Presbyterian church.

The edifice was artistically decorated with palms and yellow chrysanthemums with the color scheme of green and yellow being carried out.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her attendants were Mrs. E. Dale Opdycke, of Frenchtown, a sister of the bride, who acted as matron of honor; Mrs. Robert Nelson, of Washington Crossing; Mrs. Herbert Stem, of Milford, a sister of the bride; Mrs. Charles K. Hummer, and Miss Erma Eddy. The latter is another sister of the bride.

Little Esther Ann Van Tilberg, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Van Tilberg, was flower girl, and Douglas W. Stem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stem, was ring bearer.

Preceding the ceremony a piano recital was given by Miss Beatrice Hillpot, a teacher in the Hay School of Music, Easton, and Miss Anna Trump, of Easton, sang "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," and "For You Alone." The wedding march from Lohengrin was played on the pipe organ by Miss Hillpot.

The bride was attired in a gown of satin trimmed with princess lace and with a train of satin and chiffon falling in graceful folds from her shoulders. Her veil of tulle lace was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore an attractive gown of orchid georgette trimmed with crystal beads and velvet and carried a bouquet of yellow pernet roses. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Stem each wore gowns of yellow Elizabeth crepe trimmed with velvet. The other bridesmaids, Mrs. Hummer and Miss Eddy were each attired in green Elizabeth crepe trimmed with velvet. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.

The little flower girl wore a pretty green georgette dress trimmed with green taffeta and carried a basket of baby breath and sweet peas. Flowers were strewn in the path of the bride.

G. Stewart Crawford, of New York city, was best man. The ushers were Curtis Culp, of Wellsville, O.; Herbert Stem, of Milford; Charles K. Hummer and George W. Eddy. The latter is a brother of the bride.

The bride is popular among the younger set of Frenchtown and was leading soloist in the Presbyterian church for many years. She was employed as secretary to Harry J. Able, attorney-at-law, for 13 years.

Mr. Van Tilberg is a college graduate and is affiliated with the McLain Firebrick company, of Pittsburgh.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Caterer Bissell, of Easton, served dinner. Music for the occasion was furnished by Ted Baxter's orchestra, of Easton. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts which included silverware, linen, lamps, money, furniture and china.

Students Appear In "Kathleen," Musical Comedy, Thursday Night

Performance Will be Repeated Friday; Cast of 150 Completes Rehearsals; Chorus and Group Work Among Features.

The first performance of "Kathleen," musical comedy, will be given tomorrow evening by a cast of 150, including high school and grade students, in the high school auditorium. The production, said to be one of the best ever attempted by the local school, will be repeated Friday.

The plot pictures a certain Michael Flynn, the town's wealthiest man, who has determined upon the matrimonial plans of his ward, Kathleen O'Day, who does not altogether agree with her uncle's arrangements. The village grocery store, with all the picturesque characters that go with it; the proprietor, a Dutchman; the postmistress, the sheriff, the champion checker player and the village flapper contribute to the success of the comedy.

Ten choruses and groups of dancing girls and boys are prominent features. The music was written by Clayton Hotchkiss, head of the music department of Harvard, while the book and lyrics were written by Luther A. Yantes, well known to theatregoers for his stage experience and as author of many comedies. "Kathleen" is a musical comedy of quaint old New England, with many beautiful stage settings.

Concrete streets always remain true, even and rigid

Duluth Lays 967,214 Square Yards of Concrete Pavements

Several years ago Duluth, Minnesota, began to pave streets with concrete. It has continued to do so every year since.

Last year, street paving awards were one hundred per cent concrete. When present contracts are completed, the city will have 967,214 square yards of this permanent pavement.

Property owners say that concrete is ideal for fine residential streets, as well as in the business districts, where heavy grinding traffic soon wears out other pavements.

They have found that concrete requires practically no maintenance, that it is safe to drive on, wet or dry, and that the extreme range of temperature common in Duluth has no effect on its durability.

Concrete also has a pleasing, light gray color, which makes it the aristocrat of pavements.

These are some of the reasons why more than 1,000 cities and towns laid concrete streets in 1925.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Students Appear In "Kathleen," Musical Comedy, Thursday Night

Performance Will be Repeated Friday; Cast of 150 Completes Rehearsals; Chorus and Group Work Among Features.

The first performance of "Kathleen," musical comedy, will be given tomorrow evening by a cast of 150, including high school and grade students, in the high school auditorium. The production, said to be one of the best ever attempted by the local school, will be repeated Friday.

The plot pictures a certain Michael Flynn, the town's wealthiest man, who has determined upon the matrimonial plans of his ward, Kathleen O'Day, who does not altogether agree with her uncle's arrangements. The village grocery store, with all the picturesque characters that go with it; the proprietor, a Dutchman; the postmistress, the sheriff, the champion checker player and the village flapper contribute to the success of the comedy.

Ten choruses and groups of dancing girls and boys are prominent features. The music was written by Clayton Hotchkiss, head of the music department of Harvard, while the book and lyrics were written by Luther A. Yantes, well known to theatregoers for his stage experience and as author of many comedies. "Kathleen" is a musical comedy of quaint old New England, with many beautiful stage settings.

Concrete streets always remain true, even and rigid

Duluth Lays 967,214 Square Yards of Concrete Pavements

Several years ago Duluth, Minnesota, began to pave streets with concrete. It has continued to do so every year since.

Last year, street paving awards were one hundred per cent concrete. When present contracts are completed, the city will have 967,214 square yards of this permanent pavement.

Property owners say that concrete is ideal for fine residential streets, as well as in the business districts, where heavy grinding traffic soon wears out other pavements.

They have found that concrete requires practically no maintenance, that it is safe to drive on, wet or dry, and that the extreme range of temperature common in Duluth has no effect on its durability.

Concrete also has a pleasing, light gray color, which makes it the aristocrat of pavements.

These are some of the reasons why more than 1,000 cities and towns laid concrete streets in 1925.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Flexible Shoes for Flexible Feet

YOUR foot is made up of resilient arches. The 26 bones of the foot are not solidly joined together, but flexibly connected by muscles, tendons and elastic cords called ligaments. This allows full freedom of action and helps to absorb the shocks of walking.

It is clear, then, why the foot arches can be gradually broken down and the foot deformed by badly fitted shoes or those not designed on correct anatomical lines. If the foot muscles become weakened from illness or lack of exercise, the arch bones slip out of position and severe pain begins.

The unusual comfort of the

is largely due to its being designed in harmony with the structure and requirements of your foot.

The flexible Cantilever arch allows the muscles to function naturally. Circulation is free. The result is the maintenance or restoration of foot health.

The Cantilever is good looking and well made. Come and see the attractive styles.

Pyorrhea's victims are 4 out of 5

A ruthless enemy that gives no quarter is Pyorrhea. Its poisons sweep through the system, undermining health and often causing such serious diseases as rheumatism and neuritis, appendicitis, ulcers, stomach troubles and nervousness.

Four out of five past 40, and thousands younger, pay this heavy toll. But you need not fear these uneven odds.

Go to your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the gums, today. This dentifrice, the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., prevents Pyorrhea or checks its course.

It keeps gum tissue firm and healthy. It protects teeth against acids which cause decay and keeps them white.

Use Forhan's regularly, morning and night. Teach your children this good habit.

Forhan's contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid used by dentists everywhere. It is health-insurance. At all druggists'—in tubes, 35c and 60c.

No tell-tale Odor

Forhan's Antiseptic, a new product, most powerful, safe antiseptic mouthwash known, is odorless. It keeps you safe from whispering tongues. Pleasant, refreshing. Try it and you'll always use it.

Flexible Shoes for Flexible Feet

YOUR foot is made up of resilient arches. The 26 bones of the foot are not solidly joined together, but flexibly connected by muscles, tendons and elastic cords called ligaments. This allows full freedom of action and helps to absorb the shocks of walking.

It is clear, then, why the foot arches can be gradually broken down and the foot deformed by badly fitted shoes or those not designed on correct anatomical lines. If the foot muscles become weakened from illness or lack of exercise, the arch bones slip out of position and severe pain begins.

The unusual comfort of the

is largely due to its being designed in harmony with the structure and requirements of your foot.

The flexible Cantilever arch allows the muscles to function naturally. Circulation is free. The result is the maintenance or restoration of foot health.

The Cantilever is good looking and well made. Come and see the attractive styles.

Pyorrhea's victims are 4 out of 5

A ruthless enemy that gives no quarter is Pyorrhea. Its poisons sweep through the system, undermining health and often causing such serious diseases as rheumatism and neuritis, appendicitis, ulcers, stomach troubles and nervousness.

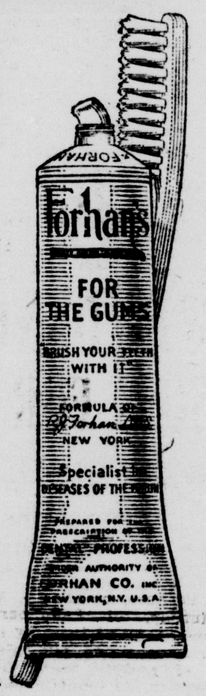
Four out of five past 40, and thousands younger, pay this heavy toll. But you need not fear these uneven odds.

Go to your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the gums, today. This dentifrice, the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., prevents Pyorrhea or checks its course.

It keeps gum tissue firm and healthy. It protects teeth against acids which cause decay and keeps them white.

Use Forhan's regularly, morning and night. Teach your children this good habit.

Forhan's contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid used by dentists everywhere. It is health-insurance. At all druggists'—in tubes, 35c and 60c.



No tell-tale Odor

Forhan's Antiseptic, a new product, most powerful, safe antiseptic mouthwash known, is odorless. It keeps you safe from whispering tongues. Pleasant, refreshing. Try it and you'll always use it.

WEDDING OFF, SUES FOR HOME

Because, he alleges, Miss Susan E. Murphy, of Petersburg, Mahoning county, failed to carry out her agreement to marry him, Martin V. Howell, 82-year-old Salem man, has taken steps in the Columbiana county courts at Lisbon to recover a $6,000 home in Salem, which he deeded to his intended bride. He is represented by Boone & Campbell, Salem law firm.

According to the petition, Howell deeded the property to Miss Murphy on October 20, 1919, after she is alleged to have consented to a marriage. The wedding was delayed, the plaintiff says, at the request of Miss Murphy, who said that she preferred to wait until the return of her sister who had undergone an operation

On or about October 4, 1923, Howell claims that he discovered that Miss Murphy had no intentions of marrying him and requested a deed for the property turned over to the woman, but that the deed was not made.

The court has issued a temporary injunction preventing Miss Murphy, described in the suit as "much younger," from disposing of the property until the litigation has been settled.

WEDDING OFF, SUES FOR HOME

Because, he alleges, Miss Susan E. Murphy, of Petersburg, Mahoning county, failed to carry out her agreement to marry him, Martin V. Howell, 82-year-old Salem man, has taken steps in the Columbiana county courts at Lisbon to recover a $6,000 home in Salem, which he deeded to his intended bride. He is represented by Boone & Campbell, Salem law firm.

According to the petition, Howell deeded the property to Miss Murphy on October 20, 1919, after she is alleged to have consented to a marriage. The wedding was delayed, the plaintiff says, at the request of Miss Murphy, who said that she preferred to wait until the return of her sister who had undergone an operation

On or about October 4, 1923, Howell claims that he discovered that Miss Murphy had no intentions of marrying him and requested a deed for the property turned over to the woman, but that the deed was not made.

The court has issued a temporary injunction preventing Miss Murphy, described in the suit as "much younger," from disposing of the property until the litigation has been settled.

JURY MAY GO TO HALL-MILLS MURDER SCENE

Prosecutor Simpson Plans Another Surprise Move.

EFFIGY IN COURT

By James L. Kilgallen.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 10.—"What will Simpson, the super-dramatist, do next?"

This is the question every person in any way identified with the Hall-Mills murder trial is asking.

Simpson, who is prosecuting the state's case in his inimitable way, has provided one thrill after another, and the end is not yet. He almost confounded the defense by the unorthodox, helter-skelter manner he started presenting his case. Then he wanted court adjourned to a hospital so the testimony of his star witness, Mrs. Jane Gibson, who became very ill, could be obtained. He put "surprise witnesses" on the stand who had never been heard of in the case. He "kidnaped" Mrs. Gibson from Somerville and put her in his own hospital in Jersey City.

Organs Cut from Throat.

And finally, late yesterday, he capped the climax by suddenly procuring from a brown cardboard box a grisly exhibit in the form of a plaster head and bust of a human figure which he placed on the witness stand so Dr. Otto H. Schultze, autopsy expert, could illustrate for the jury just how the beautiful young choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was shot to death and her tongue, larnyx, windpipe and throat muscles—all the organs used in singing—cut from her throat.

Today it was reported that the spectacular Simpson plans to ask Judge Charles W. Parker to permit the jury to visit De Russey's lane, the scene of the murder of Mrs. Mills and the man she loved, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, pastor of her church. Simpson thinks the jurors would get a better mental picture of the scene than they were able to visualize from the enlarged photographs that are being shown in court.

If Simpson's request is granted, he will not, however, be permitted to accompany the jury to the scene. Under New Jersey law neither lawyers for the state nor the defense would be allowed to go to the scene with the jury.

Will Recall Dr. Schultze.

It was Simpson's plan to recall Dr. Schultze to the stand today.

Schultze, with the grewsome wax mannikin before him on the railing of the witness stand, testified he found three bullet wounds in Mrs. Mills' head, one in the forehead, one in the right cheek and one on the right side of the face, all within an area of about four inches. She had been shot by .32 calibre bullets. He said he believed the tongue was cut out, not pulled out.

Schultze said one bullet killed Dr. Hall. It passed through the frontal bone on the right side of the head and came out the back of the skull. The slain pastor was not mutilated.

Louise Geist Riehl and Barbara Tough, two former maids in the Hall home, also will be put on the stand. Their testimony is expected to have a significant bearing on the trial.

DEMOLAY SHOW HERE NOV. 18-19

Rehearsals Begin for Musical Extravaganza, "Her Song."

Rehearsals for the musical extravaganza, "Her Song," which will be offered at the American theatre, Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19 under the auspices of Harding Chapter Order of DeMolay, are under way.

The rehearsals are in charge of J. G. Rockhold, a professional director with the John B. Rogers Producing company of Fostoria. Many of the leading parts have been assigned while dancing and chorus speciality numbers are progressing nicely. Rehearsals are being held nightly.

"Her Song" is the latest offering in the Rogers' repertoire. The costumes and scenery are new and the show is described as being entirely different from the usual type of musical comedies which have been offered to East Liverpool show goers in past years. It is a delightful story filled with peppy comedy, snappy dancing and unusually pleasing melodies.

The Parsees, the once-Persian people, now number only 100,000 in the world, according to recent estimates, and half of these live in Bombay.

Bars are Smashed With Axes in Dry Raid in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—Federal prohibition agents introduced Carrie Nation methods here last night in a new drive against bootlegging establishments, the bars and fixtures of two places being smashed with axes.

Several agents, led by Miles E. Evans, assistant United States district attorney, descended upon the alleged "blind tigers," captured 11 men, seized evidence and then wrecked the "joints."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—After an irregular opening, in which the trial stocks lost more than they gained on the initial sales, the stock market developed a firmer tone in the early trading today. The rails were unusually quiet, while better buying demand was in evidence for the low priced motor and rubber stocks. Oil stocks held their ground in the fact of further awkward gains in crude oil production, and specialties received some friendly held from the pools.

In anticipation of a favorable forward-tonnage report at noon today, U. S. Steel stock held firmly at which represents a recovery of about 15 points in the last two or three weeks.

A new 25,800 barrel increase in crude oil production brings the total to 2,357,000 barrels a day, an increase of 300,00 barrels a day over the same time last year.

Universal Pipe, Mutterick and the utility stocks sold up a point or more, while foundation company lost 9 and motion picture stocks were generally on the decline.

Slightly lower prices were quoted for grain and cotton futures. Sugar was firm, oil irregular, call money unchanged.

DR. MEL MORRIS SHOWS WAY TO LIFE, DEATH

SERMON TONIGHT

Salvation Army Will Visit Baptist Church Thursday.

"Our consciences are safe guides only when motivated by God's word under the leadership of the Holy Spirit" asserted Rev. Mel Morris, Maryland evangelist, at the First Baptist church revival, last evening while speaking on the theme "The Highways of Life and Death."

He declared that the Holy Scriptures alluded to nine distinct consciences: the good, pure, weak, scarred, defiled, purged and evil. "If your conscience does not bother you as many allege then it is because the influence of God's truth and spirit is not its influencing force," he said. "Such a conscience will permit you to go on the way that leads to the ultimate loss of soul."

Announcement was made that Rev. Mr. Morris' subject for this evening would be: "The Golden Calf."

On Thursday night, the revival as during the one held last winter by Rev. Mr. Morris here, will be visited by the Salvation Army, headed by its band and led by Major Joseph Hughes, commandant of the local citadel.

Numerous prayers by laymen and laywomen of the congregation took the place of the usual ministerial invocation, last night. Preceding and following these, Director Marion Ball carried out an appealing service of song. His special solo was "I Walk With the King." Miss Ruby Aley was the accompanist.

The evangelist declared that the King's highway was a narrow one, and that but few comparatively frequent it. The devil's roadway, however, he characterized as a broad one with many persons traveling theron. "But the devil's boulevard is also a crooked one, because as a serpent the evil one beguiled our first parents. Satan is crooked and accordingly makes a crooked path for crooked people. The scum of the earth travel this road. On its sides are bootleggers' dens, shady places of amusement, every questionable departure that contributes to man's down fall.

"And there are seemingly fine persons on this road. There is the so-called successful business man, the cultured, the refined, the educated. But they are judged by their exteriors God, however, looks on the interior. Too often such hearts are full of conceit. Simmered down they qualify simply as lost sinners despite their appealing appearances."

Conviction, deep and penetrating, pervaded the good sized audience of hearers, preparing the way for many to follow those who took the initial step towards conversion at the service.

In the after service of prayer, considerable personal work was done, it being enthusiastically concluded with several repetitions of the doxology following prayer by musical director.

"The scriptures conclusively point out two ways, one of which we are traveling upon in this life and which will bring us to our eternal destity," averred Rev. Morris. All of us are on one of these, the King's or devil's highway. The genuine Christian is on the former; the lost soul is walking the latter."

Steubenville Grand Jury Acts in Death Of Patrolman Burns

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 10.—Colonel Edward O. Dana, 65, coal operator, died here early today, following a brief illness. Colonel Dana was well known in the coal industry throughout Ohio and West Virginia.

TODAY

THE important wealth is fertile soil, and intelligent humans on it. Cuba, probably, leads the earth in soil fertility. Her great sugar cane fields go on furnishing cane forever, no replanting as in Hawaii and elsewhere.

And, by the way, Cuba, in a few weeks will have wiped out all troubles due to the big wind. Havana is back to normal already and ready for visitors. Don't die without seeing Cuba, and if you have money to invest take it with you. Wonderful chances are there. Spain, by the way, gives to Cuba special tariff advantages. This country might well do the same.

She's our good neighbor.

ON SUNDAY, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson talked face to face to the greatest crowd she ever drew. Thousands stood in the streets outside her temple.

All sympathized with her; many unsconsciously were interested in her recent adventures.

She had promised to name "the biggest liar in the city," and named the devil. The devil is a tempter and a deceiver, but is he a liar? You read, in the book of Job, how "the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them." When the Lord said unto Satan, "Whence comest thou?" Satan answered truthfully. And he kept his word when he promised not to kill Job. He only afflicted him with boils, killed his sons and daughters, oxen, asses, etc.

Satan is vicious, but not a hypocrite or liar. That he leaves to some that use him profitably in their business.

18 Dead in Storm

bers had already acted as a warning to the village. It could be heard above the roar of the wind and the thrashing of trees. In a few minutes the whole village of some 800 people was on its way to the hill where the school house had stood.

Children, some hurt, some merely terror-stricken, were already beginning to emerge from the wreckage as the first of the rescuers reached the hill.

Two physicians, Dr. George D. Heath and Dr. Thomas F. Owen, were among the first to arrive. They dispatched word to Washington for ambulances and doctors. They had seen enough in a few minutes to know that there was work aplenty. Two ministers, the Rev. Father Ward and Rev. Greenwall were also soon on the scene. The Catholic priest gave several of the children the last rites of the church there amid the wreckage.

Two country hotels and the village newspaper office were turned into temporary hospitals. As fast as the children could be extricated, they were carried to the village proper and later the injured were placed in fast automobiles and hurried to Washington hospitals, 35 miles away.

Teacher's Story of Disaster.

One little fellow, Samuel Berry, 7, is alive today because the ambulance that carried him went fast enough to the hospital. The boy had one arm literally torn from his body, besides suffering a fractured skull. Physicians said today he had a chance for recovery.

Miss Ethel Graves, the 22-year-old school teacher, in charge of 35 primary pupils who was badly injured, although not seriously, said:

"It had been raining most of the day and a little before 3 o'clock the wind seemed getting stronger. I heard a rumbling noise, and looked out of the window. Things looked black and ugly. I was beginning to feel nervous, when all of a sudden the window panes blew out. The children started toward me when suddenly we all seemed to be flying through the air. Everything was whirling around and around. I guess I lost consciousness, for the next thing I knew I was lying on the ground and there was a child lying across me."

There are 300 homes in La Plata, and almost every one was touched by sorrow today, either through death or injury of children. The village authorities were consulting parents this morning and it is probable that the dead children will be buried at a community service, and in a single grave.

CROWD HEARS DR. ANDREWS

American Guild of Health Services in Episcopal Church.

Considerable interest is being manifest in the special mission on religion and health which is being conducted in the St. Stephen's Episcopal church this week by Rev. Edward Andrews, D. D., vice president of the American Guild of Health. Tonight's service will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

The services are open to the general public.

Dr. Andrews is a forceful speaker and presents his subject in a way that is interesting to children as well as adults. There is more thought being given today to the subject of religion and health than at any time in the history of man, according to Dr. Andrews.

Owing to the Armistice Day celebration which will be conducted by the Sons of St. George in the parish house, there will be no mission meeting on Thursday evening. Services will be held on Friday evening and Sunday morning and evening.

BRUSSELS GAY AS BELGIUM'S PRINCE WEDS

Leopold and Sweden's Princess in Religious Ceremony.

ARCH OF SWORDS

Monsignor Van Roye Officiates Outside of Altar.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10.—As the bells of the cathedral of Sainte Gudule rang out and guns boomed, Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium was today married to Princess Astrid of Sweden, in a solemn ceremony in the cathedral, the religious confirmation of the civil ceremony held last week in Stockholm.

Belgium was gay in its rejoicing over its new princess, and no such demonstrations have been seen since that November day eight years ago, almost to the day, when the World war came to an end.

An artillery salute of 21 guns resounded before the royal palace at 10:45, notifying the great throngs that the wedding procession had started.

Prince's Regiment on Steps.

The wedding party after its ride through throngs of demonstrative admirers drew up before the Cathedral of Sainte Gudule. And on every one of the 31 stone steps leading to the cathedral door were two lieutenants from the 78th regiment, to which the young prince belongs with swords drawn, forming an arch of glittering steel beneath which the wedding party ascended to the cathedral to receive the religious benediction. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Leopold first entered the arch of swords, followed by Prince Charles with Princess Astrid on his arm.

Monsignor Van Roye, successor to Cardinal Mercier as primate of Belgium, greeting the party at the cathedral door. Even though he had originally declined to participate in the ceremony, opposing the union because of the differences in religions, it is stated that it was on the advice of the pope that he decided to officiate.

The wedding party proceeded up the cathedral aisle and took their places before Monsignor Van Roye, near the lectern, outside of the Altar because the bride is not a Catholic.

Merry Wedding Party.

Eighteen princes and princesses, fifteen of whom were Scandinavians, and diplomatic and official guests were seated in the nave. The general public was admitted to the lateral naves.

Monsignor Van Roye blessed the rings and performed the brief ceremony, the entire service lasting but a quarter of an hour.

It was a merry wedding party, including both royal families. That sat down to a luncheon at the palace that was the work of the highest art of Belgian chefs.

The gala was concluded with a great reception given by the king and the queen at 3 this afternoon.

JURY MAY GO TO HALL-MILLS MURDER SCENE

Prosecutor Simpson Plans Another Surprise Move.

EFFIGY IN COURT

By James L. Kilgallen.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 10.—"What will Simpson, the super-dramatist, do next?"

This is the question every person in any way identified with the Hall-Mills murder trial is asking.

Simpson, who is prosecuting the state's case in his inimitable way, has provided one thrill after another, and the end is not yet. He almost confounded the defense by the unorthodox, helter-skelter manner he started presenting his case. Then he wanted court adjourned to a hospital so the testimony of his star witness, Mrs. Jane Gibson, who became very ill, could be obtained. He put "surprise witnesses" on the stand who had never been heard of in the case. He "kidnaped" Mrs. Gibson from Somerville and put her in his own hospital in Jersey City.

Organs Cut from Throat.

And finally, late yesterday, he capped the climax by suddenly procuring from a brown cardboard box a grisly exhibit in the form of a plaster head and bust of a human figure which he placed on the witness stand so Dr. Otto H. Schultze, autopsy expert, could illustrate for the jury just how the beautiful young choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was shot to death and her tongue, larnyx, windpipe and throat muscles—all the organs used in singing—cut from her throat.

Today it was reported that the spectacular Simpson plans to ask Judge Charles W. Parker to permit the jury to visit De Russey's lane, the scene of the murder of Mrs. Mills and the man she loved, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, pastor of her church. Simpson thinks the jurors would get a better mental picture of the scene than they were able to visualize from the enlarged photographs that are being shown in court.

If Simpson's request is granted, he will not, however, be permitted to accompany the jury to the scene. Under New Jersey law neither lawyers for the state nor the defense would be allowed to go to the scene with the jury.

Will Recall Dr. Schultze.

It was Simpson's plan to recall Dr. Schultze to the stand today.

Schultze, with the grewsome wax mannikin before him on the railing of the witness stand, testified he found three bullet wounds in Mrs. Mills' head, one in the forehead, one in the right cheek and one on the right side of the face, all within an area of about four inches. She had been shot by .32 calibre bullets. He said he believed the tongue was cut out, not pulled out.

Schultze said one bullet killed Dr. Hall. It passed through the frontal bone on the right side of the head and came out the back of the skull. The slain pastor was not mutilated.

Louise Geist Riehl and Barbara Tough, two former maids in the Hall home, also will be put on the stand. Their testimony is expected to have a significant bearing on the trial.

DEMOLAY SHOW HERE NOV. 18-19

Rehearsals Begin for Musical Extravaganza, "Her Song."

Rehearsals for the musical extravaganza, "Her Song," which will be offered at the American theatre, Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19 under the auspices of Harding Chapter Order of DeMolay, are under way.

The rehearsals are in charge of J. G. Rockhold, a professional director with the John B. Rogers Producing company of Fostoria. Many of the leading parts have been assigned while dancing and chorus speciality numbers are progressing nicely. Rehearsals are being held nightly.

"Her Song" is the latest offering in the Rogers' repertoire. The costumes and scenery are new and the show is described as being entirely different from the usual type of musical comedies which have been offered to East Liverpool show goers in past years. It is a delightful story filled with peppy comedy, snappy dancing and unusually pleasing melodies.

The Parsees, the once-Persian people, now number only 100,000 in the world, according to recent estimates, and half of these live in Bombay.

Bars are Smashed With Axes in Dry Raid in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—Federal prohibition agents introduced Carrie Nation methods here last night in a new drive against bootlegging establishments, the bars and fixtures of two places being smashed with axes.

Several agents, led by Miles E. Evans, assistant United States district attorney, descended upon the alleged "blind tigers," captured 11 men, seized evidence and then wrecked the "joints."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—After an irregular opening, in which the trial stocks lost more than they gained on the initial sales, the stock market developed a firmer tone in the early trading today. The rails were unusually quiet, while better buying demand was in evidence for the low priced motor and rubber stocks. Oil stocks held their ground in the fact of further awkward gains in crude oil production, and specialties received some friendly held from the pools.

In anticipation of a favorable forward-tonnage report at noon today, U. S. Steel stock held firmly at which represents a recovery of about 15 points in the last two or three weeks.

A new 25,800 barrel increase in crude oil production brings the total to 2,357,000 barrels a day, an increase of 300,00 barrels a day over the same time last year.

Universal Pipe, Mutterick and the utility stocks sold up a point or more, while foundation company lost 9 and motion picture stocks were generally on the decline.

Slightly lower prices were quoted for grain and cotton futures. Sugar was firm, oil irregular, call money unchanged.

DR. MEL MORRIS SHOWS WAY TO LIFE, DEATH

SERMON TONIGHT

Salvation Army Will Visit Baptist Church Thursday.

"Our consciences are safe guides only when motivated by God's word under the leadership of the Holy Spirit" asserted Rev. Mel Morris, Maryland evangelist, at the First Baptist church revival, last evening while speaking on the theme "The Highways of Life and Death."

He declared that the Holy Scriptures alluded to nine distinct consciences: the good, pure, weak, scarred, defiled, purged and evil. "If your conscience does not bother you as many allege then it is because the influence of God's truth and spirit is not its influencing force," he said. "Such a conscience will permit you to go on the way that leads to the ultimate loss of soul."

Announcement was made that Rev. Mr. Morris' subject for this evening would be: "The Golden Calf."

On Thursday night, the revival as during the one held last winter by Rev. Mr. Morris here, will be visited by the Salvation Army, headed by its band and led by Major Joseph Hughes, commandant of the local citadel.

Numerous prayers by laymen and laywomen of the congregation took the place of the usual ministerial invocation, last night. Preceding and following these, Director Marion Ball carried out an appealing service of song. His special solo was "I Walk With the King." Miss Ruby Aley was the accompanist.

The evangelist declared that the King's highway was a narrow one, and that but few comparatively frequent it. The devil's roadway, however, he characterized as a broad one with many persons traveling theron. "But the devil's boulevard is also a crooked one, because as a serpent the evil one beguiled our first parents. Satan is crooked and accordingly makes a crooked path for crooked people. The scum of the earth travel this road. On its sides are bootleggers' dens, shady places of amusement, every questionable departure that contributes to man's down fall.

"And there are seemingly fine persons on this road. There is the so-called successful business man, the cultured, the refined, the educated. But they are judged by their exteriors God, however, looks on the interior. Too often such hearts are full of conceit. Simmered down they qualify simply as lost sinners despite their appealing appearances."

Conviction, deep and penetrating, pervaded the good sized audience of hearers, preparing the way for many to follow those who took the initial step towards conversion at the service.

In the after service of prayer, considerable personal work was done, it being enthusiastically concluded with several repetitions of the doxology following prayer by musical director.

"The scriptures conclusively point out two ways, one of which we are traveling upon in this life and which will bring us to our eternal destity," averred Rev. Morris. All of us are on one of these, the King's or devil's highway. The genuine Christian is on the former; the lost soul is walking the latter."

THE important wealth is fertile soil, and intelligent humans on it. Cuba, probably, leads the earth in soil fertility. Her great sugar cane fields go on furnishing cane forever, no replanting as in Hawaii and elsewhere.

And, by the way, Cuba, in a few weeks will have wiped out all troubles due to the big wind. Havana is back to normal already and ready for visitors. Don't die without seeing Cuba, and if you have money to invest take it with you. Wonderful chances are there. Spain, by the way, gives to Cuba special tariff advantages. This country might well do the same.

She's our good neighbor.

ON SUNDAY, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson talked face to face to the greatest crowd she ever drew. Thousands stood in the streets outside her temple.

All sympathized with her; many unconsciously were interested in her recent adventures.

She had promised to name "the biggest liar in the city," and named the devil. The devil is a tempter and a deceiver, but is he a liar? You read, in the book of Job, how "the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them." When the Lord said unto Satan, "Whence comest thou?" Satan answered truthfully. And he kept his word when he promised not to kill Job. He only afflicted him with boils, killed his sons and daughters, oxen, asses, etc.

Satan is vicious, but not a hypocrite or liar. That he leaves to some that use him profitably in their business.

bers had already acted as a warning to the village. It could be heard above the roar of the wind and the thrashing of trees. In a few minutes the whole village of some 800 people was on its way to the hill where the school house had stood.

Children, some hurt, some merely terror-stricken, were already beginning to emerge from the wreckage as the first of the rescuers reached the hill.

Two physicians, Dr. George D. Heath and Dr. Thomas F. Owen, were among the first to arrive. They dispatched word to Washington for ambulances and doctors. They had seen enough in a few minutes to know that there was work aplenty. Two ministers, the Rev. Father Ward and Rev. Greenwall were also soon on the scene. The Catholic priest gave several of the children the last rites of the church there amid the wreckage.

Two country hotels and the village newspaper office were turned into temporary hospitals. As fast as the children could be extricated, they were carried to the village proper and later the injured were placed in fast automobiles and hurried to Washington hospitals, 35 miles away.

Teacher's Story of Disaster.

One little fellow, Samuel Berry, 7, is alive today because the ambulance that carried him went fast enough to the hospital. The boy had one arm literally torn from his body, besides suffering a fractured skull. Physicians said today he had a chance for recovery.

The stories of the survivors are virtually all the same.

Miss Ethel Graves, the 22-year-old school teacher, in charge of 35 primary pupils who was badly injured, although not seriously, said:

"It had been raining most of the day and a little before 3 o'clock the wind seemed getting stronger. I heard a rambling noise, and looked out of the window. Things looked black and ugly. I was beginning to feel nervous, when all of a sudden the window panes blew out. The children started toward me when suddenly we all seemed to be flying through the air. Everything was whirling around and around. I guess I lost consciousness, for the next thing I knew I was lying on the ground and there was a child lying across me."

There are 300 homes in La Plata, and almost every one was touched by sorrow today, either through death or injury of children. The village authorities were consulting parents this morning and it is probable that the dead children will be buried at a community service, and in a single grave.

BRUSSELS GAY AS BELGIUM'S PRINCE WEDS

Leopold and Sweden's Princess in Religious Ceremony.

ARCH OF SWORDS

Monsignor Van Roye Officiates Outside of Altar.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10.—As the bells of the cathedral of Sainte Gudule rang out and guns boomed, Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium was today married to Princess Astrid of Sweden, in a solemn ceremony in the cathedral, the religious confirmation of the civil ceremony held last week in Stockholm.

Belgium was gay in its rejoicing over its new princess, and no such demonstrations have been seen since that November day eight years ago, almost to the day, when the World war came to an end.

An artillery salute of 21 guns resounded before the royal palace at 10:45, notifying the great throngs that the wedding procession had started.

Prince's Regiment on Steps.

The wedding party after its ride through throngs of demonstrative admirers drew up before the Cathedral of Sainte Gudule. And on every one of the 31 stone steps leading to the cathedral door were two lieutenants from the 78th regiment, to which the young prince belongs with swords drawn, forming an arch of glittering steel beneath which the wedding party ascended to the cathedral to receive the religious benediction. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Leopold first entered the arch of swords, followed by Prince Charles with Princess Astrid on his arm.

Monsignor Van Roye, successor to Cardinal Mercier as primate of Belgium, greeting the party at the cathedral door. Even though he had originally declined to participate in the ceremony, opposing the union because of the differences in religions, it is stated that it was on the advice of the pope that he decided to officiate.

The wedding party proceeded up the cathedral aisle and took their places before Monsignor Van Roye, near the lectern, outside of the Altar because the bride is not a Catholic.

Merry Wedding Party.

Eighteen princes and princesses, fifteen of whom were Scandinavians, and diplomatic and official guests were seated in the nave. The general public was admitted to the lateral naves.

Monsignor Van Roye blessed the rings and performed the brief ceremony, the entire service lasting but a quarter of an hour.

It was a merry wedding party, including both royal families. That sat down to a luncheon at the palace that was the work of the highest art of Belgian chefs.

The gala was concluded with a great reception given by the king and the queen at 3 this afternoon.

DR. HARDMAN, GEOGIA'S NEXT CHIEF, IS WEALTHY; INSTALLED IN JUNE

ATLANTA.—For the first time in their story of this state, Georgia is to have a governor from the ranks of the medical profession. He is Dr. Lamartine Griffin Hardman, of Commerce, Ga., millionaire cotton mill owner who takes office next June by virtue of his victory in the democratic run-off over John N. Holder, state highway commission chairman.

Hardman's victory climaxed a bitter fight over a state highway bond issue, but Hardman secured the support of J. O. Wood and George H. Carswell, "also-rans" in the first primary.

Hardman was engaged in the active practice of medicine until 1919, when he retired to devote his time to his numerous financial, industrial and agricultural enterprises. He was born in Commerce in 1856, the son of Dr. W. B. J. Hardman and Susan Elizabeth Colquitt Hardman, his mother having been a member of the famous Colquitt family which produced several distinguished figures in public life in the south.

In addition to owning the Harmony Cotton Mills, employing hundreds, Dr. Hardman owns large farms in various parts of the state. COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO 'PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Manufacture of ware at the New Cumberland plant of the Cronin China company, recently purchased by Daniel and Kress Cronin, operators of the Standard Pottery company, will be started about December 1, it was announced today.

Moulds and saggers, which will be used in the new plant, have practically been completed. The tunnel kiln will be tested next week. Twenty men are now employed at the plant, placing it in readiness for operation.

DR. HARDMAN, GEOGIA'S NEXT CHIEF, IS WEALTHY; INSTALLED IN JUNE

ATLANTA.—For the first time in their story of this state, Georgia is to have a governor from the ranks of the medical profession. He is Dr. Lamartine Griffin Hardman, of Commerce, Ga., millionaire cotton mill owner who takes office next June by virtue of his victory in the democratic run-off over John N. Holder, state highway commission chairman.

Hardman's victory climaxed a bitter fight over a state highway bond issue, but Hardman secured the support of J. O. Wood and George H. Carswell, "also-rans" in the first primary.

Hardman was engaged in the active practice of medicine until 1919, when he retired to devote his time to his numerous financial, industrial and agricultural enterprises. He was born in Commerce in 1856, the son of Dr. W. B. J. Hardman and Susan Elizabeth Colquitt Hardman, his mother having been a member of the famous Colquitt family which produced several distinguished figures in public life in the south.

Taft Best-Natured, Wilson Kindest, Says Mrs. Jaffray

Harding Was Best-dressed President, While Coolidge Saves Most Money, According to White House Housekeeper.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — Willam Howard Taft was the best-natured president.

Woodrow Wilson was the kindest.

Warren G. Harding was the best-dressed.

Calvin Coolidge saves the most money.

That, at any rate, is the judgment of one who has lived in the White House for seventeen years and known the chief executives of that period, not as presidents, but as husbands, fathers and just plain human beings. Mrs. Elizabeth Jaffray, housekeeper during four administrations, is writing her reminiscences, the first of a series appearing in the current issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Mrs. Jaffray also expresses some interesting views on the first ladies she has known. She classes them thus:

Mrs. Taft was the tidiest first lady.

The first Mrs. Wilson was the most motherly.

Mrs. Harding had the loveliest clothes.

Mrs. Coolidge is ostensibly the "Happiest."

"President Taft loved to serve champagne to his guests," she writes. "In his four years in the White House, I never remember a cocktail served before dinner, but there was rarely a luncheon or dinner without champagne. President Taft, however, was a tee-totaller.

"President Taft liked every sort of food with exception of eggs. He just naturally liked food—and lots of it. His great weakness was for beefsteak at breakfast. He wanted a thick, juicy, twelve-ounce steak nearly every morning. He would get up at 7 o'clock and for two hours had a workout with a trainer in his bed-room. I remember Mrs. Taft saying:

"To think of Will being so silly as to pay that trainer $1,000 a year for punching him about."

Mrs. Jaffray also reveals there is a tragic bed in the White House, over which a hoodoo seems to hang. It is one of the twin beds used during the Taft administration. She writes:

"On this bed Mrs. Taft lay for long months ill. During the next administration the first Mrs. Wilson died in it, Mrs. Harding used the same bed and for months was ill in it.

"With the coming of the Coolidges this bed and its mate were sent to the rooms occupied by the Coolidge boys, and on it Little Calvin Coolidge suffered the agonies of blood poisoning. He was removed from it only to die at Walter Reed hospital."

Acclaim Won— Through Sheer Merit

Hupmobile Eight has outsold and is outselling cars of comparable price because it offers far more in beauty and luxury as well as in impressively finer performance.

And it has successfully invaded the field above its price, for motorists have found that higher investment can bring no greater return in the essentials that constitute sound value.

Public appreciation of a new and finer development in motoring was never shown more conclusively and promptly.

Announced two years ago, Hupmobile Eight attained immediate leadership as the ultimate perfection of the straight-eight principle. It has steadily increased its prestige and its hold on popular favor every month since.

The reasons for this striking success lie within the car itself. For Hupmobile has brought to the Eight new smoothness and agility, new engineering superiorities, and new ease of handling that literally place this car in a class apart.

We could detail at length the advanced engineering features which have contributed to Hupmobile's greatest achievement. But only a ride in the Eight will convince you that this car possesses in an enhanced degree all the virtues of the most costly cars of other types, at a price which immeasurably broadens the eight-cylinder market.

Acclaim Won— Through Sheer Merit

Hupmobile Eight has outsold and is outselling cars of comparable price because it offers far more in beauty and luxury as well as in impressively finer performance.

And it has successfully invaded the field above its price, for motorists have found that higher investment can bring no greater return in the essentials that constitute sound value.

Public appreciation of a new and finer development in motoring was never shown more conclusively and promptly.

Announced two years ago, Hupmobile Eight attained immediate leadership as the ultimate perfection of the straight-eight principle. It has steadily increased its prestige and its hold on popular favor every month since.

The reasons for this striking success lie within the car itself. For Hupmobile has brought to the Eight new smoothness and agility, new engineering superiorities, and new ease of handling that literally place this car in a class apart.

We could detail at length the advanced engineering features which have contributed to Hupmobile's greatest achievement. But only a ride in the Eight will convince you that this car possesses in an enhanced degree all the virtues of the most costly cars of other types, at a price which immeasurably broadens the eight-cylinder market.

TOM MIX STAR AT AMERICAN

PYlays Detective Role in Great Train Robbery.

Tom Mix, playing the starring role of Tom Gordon, a detective, in "The Great K & A Train Robbery," Fox Films latest release, which will be shown at the American theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, disregards the danger of death from bullets as he flees from a gang of desperadoes and turns aside to rescue a girl whose horse has bolted, and who has caught her foot in a stirrup and left her head hanging near the runaway's flying hoofs.

Gordon saves her in spite of her fight to escape him because she believes he's a bandit and the pursuers are a sheriff's posse.

After she has had time to think it over, the girl concludes such a chivalrous man could not be an outlaw, and when he reappears in her own father's home, again apparently a desperado, the girl decides one good turn deserves another and hides him in a chest of her bedroom, so that he can elude her father's pursuit.

Movable Wings Raise and Lower New Style Plane

This new style airplane, invented by A. A. Merrill, instructor in aeronautics at the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Cal., raises and lowers itself by changing the position and angle of its movable wings. The body of the plane remains horizontal at all times, never "nosing up" or "nosing down." Top photo shows the plane, with its pilot, Robert Lloyd, ready to take off. Note the angle at which the wings now rest, ready for the plane to attain maximum altitude.

Dorothy Dawn, who plays the feminine lead, gives the screen a new masterpiece of screen riding and acting.

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH INDIGESTION

Mr. Allan Small, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I have always lived in fear of heart trouble—my father, as well as my mother's sister, died from this dreaded affliction when I was a child. As it was on both sides of my family and I had often heard it was hereditary, I lived in dread and fear.

"As I have had at intervals severe abdominal pains, heart-burn and pressure on the heart, I felt there was no relief so I became reconciled to the horrible truth I was doomed, nothing could be done and must await my time to go as my father and mother's sister. I never dreamed I might only have intestinal indigestion, and my trouble was sour and acid stomach, causing gas pressure on the heart. Thanks to a friend who suggested Carter's Little Liver Pills as a remedy for faulty intestinal elimination, I am now free from the dreaded fear and enjoy all-around good health. Small pills, easy to take and relieve the bowels in a rational way, with pleasant after effects." For sale at all druggists.

"GIRL FRIEND" HERE NOV. 16

Ceramic Announces Lew Fields' Musical Comedy.

"The Girl Friend," Lew Fields' musical comedy success, which is having a successful engagement at the Vanderbilt theatre in New York city, where "Irene" scored a triumph, will be played at the Ceremic theatre, Tuesday evening, Nov. 16, by a company specially selected and rehearsed by Fields. Snap, vivacity, tuneful melodies, gowns that exemplify the newest models of world-famous fashion creators worn by beautiful young women and delightful dances are said to have caused "The Girl Friend" to be voted one of the most entertaining musical plays presented in years.

In "The Girl Friend," it is claimed the auditor is regaled with humor that has naturalness of youth, music that is crisply refreshing, and lyrics that are diverting. In addition to the well-known song hits, "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room," the tinkling tunes which cling to the memory are "Why Do I?", "The Dumbell Who Done All the Dirt," "Town Hall Tonight," "Good Fellow Mine," "He's a Winner," "I'd Like to Take You Home" and "What Is It?"

Let not defeated candidates mourn. There are occasions when it takes time to demonstrate how really lucky we are.—Marion Star.

Ruth McFadden vs Howard B. McFadden.

COUNTY DAIRYMEN ATTENDING MEET

A number of Columbiana county dairymen are attending the annual meeting of the National Co-Operative Milk Producers' Federation which opened at the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, this morning, and which will continue until Thursday evening. There are a number of co-operative milk associations in this county, and these have elected delegates to attend this two-day session. The sessions will be presided over by Judge John D. Miller of Susquehanna, Pa., president of the National Federation.

Case Appealed.

An appeal from the court of Justice Donald Burcaw has been taken to common pleas court in the case of Lloyd Robusch against Louis Howells. This action is the result of an automobile wreck at Ellsworth and Sixth street, Salem, Sept. 4th last. Robusch seeks a judgment against the defendant for $249.90 for damages to his car and also for injuries he sustained as a result of the wreck.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle to Norman Dyke of Negley and Velma McDanel of East Palestine, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McDanel. The couple are to be married by the Rev. Beale at East Palestine.

KNOX TOWNSHIP LEVIES APPROVED

No objections have been made to the assessments that have been levied by the trustees of Knox township for the improvement of the Harrisville-Westville road, a hearing on this matter having passed the county commissioners without a single property owner appearing before the board to file an objection.

The total cost of this road has been placed at $95,795, and an assessment of 10 per cent has been made a matter of record, which will go on the December tax duplicate.

Because of the improvement of this road, a short route between Westville and Alliance is now possible, eliminating the drive through Beloit and Sebring.

FIVE DIVORCE ACTIONS FILED

Record is Established For Present Term of Court.

By the filing of five petitions for divorce in common pleas court within two hours, a new record was set for the present term. MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10—A rupture of athletic relations between West Virginia University and West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon is threatened as the result of an article in the latter's school publication, attacking Captain Ross McHenry of the varsity.

DON LANNING IN NEW PLAY

"Top Hole," Musical Comedy, at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the local star who has scored a hit with "Very Good Eddie," is today appearing at the Ceramic theatre in the musical comedy, "Top Hole," which had a long run on Broadway with Ernest Glendenning and Claire Stratton in the leading roles.

Lanning plays the role of Bob Corcoran, a boy who is much for sport, society and spending money but not for earning any. His father, an influential judge, sends him from home to earn his own living as he may, with the agreement that if he saves $1,000 in a year he will allow him to return home and give him a responsible position in his office.

From the time he is cast out it is just a matter of one laugh after another until he faces his father in court for the theft of $1,000. All turns out well and the play has a humorous climax.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made cough syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

COLLEGE BREAK IS THREATENED

State University and Wesleyan May Sever Athletic Relations.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10—A rupture of athletic relations between West Virginia University and West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon is threatened as the result of an article in the latter's school publication, attacking Captain Ross McHenry of the varsity.

The article, authorship of which college officials are trying to determine, alluded to McHenry as the most discourteous football leader ever to wear the Mountaineer uniform and spoke of him as a "Shylock" for accepting a penalty imposed on Wesleyan during their annual clash.

Nickell Kramer, president of the state university, today declared that he would await possible action by Wesleyan authorities before calling a mass meeting to consider demands for a cessation of relations.

DON LANNING IN NEW PLAY

"Top Hole," Musical Comedy, at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the local star who has scored a hit with "Very Good Eddie," is today appearing at the Ceramic theatre in the musical comedy, "Top Hole," which had a long run on Broadway with Ernest Glendenning and Claire Stratton in the leading roles.

Lanning plays the role of Bob Corcoran, a boy who is much for sport, society and spending money but not for earning any. His father, an influential judge, sends him from home to earn his own living as he may, with the agreement that if he saves $1,000 in a year he will allow him to return home and give him a responsible position in his office.

From the time he is cast out it is just a matter of one laugh after another until he faces his father in court for the theft of $1,000. All turns out well and the play has a humorous climax.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made cough syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10—A rupture of athletic relations between West Virginia University and West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon is threatened as the result of an article in the latter's school publication, attacking Captain Ross McHenry of the varsity.

DON LANNING IN NEW PLAY

"Top Hole," Musical Comedy, at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the local star who has scored a hit with "Very Good Eddie," is today appearing at the Ceramic theatre in the musical comedy, "Top Hole," which had a long run on Broadway with Ernest Glendenning and Claire Stratton in the leading roles.

Lanning plays the role of Bob Corcoran, a boy who is much for sport, society and spending money but not for earning any. His father, an influential judge, sends him from home to earn his own living as he may, with the agreement that if he saves $1,000 in a year he will allow him to return home and give him a responsible position in his office.

From the time he is cast out it is just a matter of one laugh after another until he faces his father in court for the theft of $1,000. All turns out well and the play has a humorous climax.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made cough syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

KNOX TOWNSHIP LEVIES APPROVED

No objections have been made to the assessments that have been levied by the trustees of Knox township for the improvement of the Harrisville-Westville road, a hearing on this matter having passed the county commissioners without a single property owner appearing before the board to file an objection.

The total cost of this road has been placed at $95,795, and an assessment of 10 per cent has been made a matter of record, which will go on the December tax duplicate.

Because of the improvement of this road, a short route between Westville and Alliance is now possible, eliminating the drive through Beloit and Sebring.

State University and Wesleyan May Sever Athletic Relations.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10—A rupture of athletic relations between West Virginia University and West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon is threatened as the result of an article in the latter's school publication, attacking Captain Ross McHenry of the varsity.

Nickell Kramer, president of the state university, today declared that he would await possible action by Wesleyan authorities before calling a mass meeting to consider demands for a cessation of relations.

DON LANNING IN NEW PLAY

"Top Hole," Musical Comedy, at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the local star who has scored a hit with "Very Good Eddie," is today appearing at the Ceramic theatre in the musical comedy, "Top Hole," which had a long run on Broadway with Ernest Glendenning and Claire Stratton in the leading roles.

Lanning plays the role of Bob Corcoran, a boy who is much for sport, society and spending money but not for earning any. His father, an influential judge, sends him from home to earn his own living as he may, with the agreement that if he saves $1,000 in a year he will allow him to return home and give him a responsible position in his office.

From the time he is cast out it is just a matter of one laugh after another until he faces his father in court for the theft of $1,000. All turns out well and the play has a humorous climax.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made cough syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Vets Shape Up Squad For Armistice Day Game With Toronto

Al Nesser, Famous In Pro Ranks, Will Wear Colors of Local Team

Scholastic and Independent Stars Lined up by Kidder for Battle With Strong Tiger Eleven; Hostilities to be Staged at Smith Field, Chester, Beginning at 3:15 p. m.

WITH no less a gridioron personage than Al Nesser, the grand old man of football, who will add interest to the event in the apparel of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Armistice day game at Smith Field, Chester, tomorrow, between the Vets and the Toronto Tigers sizes up as one of the outstanding grid attractions of the season here.

George Kidder, high school coach, who will direct the Vets in their engagement tomorrow afternoon, today announced that Nesser, who was campaigning in pro grid ranks before the present crop of stars has donned long jeans, has consented to take a hand in the affair against the Tigers, his old team mates.

According to Kidder, Nesser had originally contemplated a visit at the W. C. Miller home in Newell over the week-end and, when asked if he would lend his talent to the Vets for the afternoon, he was unable to refuse.

Kidder announces that Nesser likely will be played at a little bit of everything during the game, starting on end, switching to a tackle or a guard and probably winding up in the backfield. The fact of the matter is that Nesser fits in well in any of these positions.

The Vets' coach has lined up his starting eleven somewhat as follows: Ends, Nesser and Loren Howard; tackles, Kidder and McBane; guards, Coleman and Kinsey; center, Cox; backs, Finley, Dunlap, Reese and Bucher. This outlay is only a probability. There will be sufficient reserve material on hand, Kidder assures, to meet any and all contingencies.

The holiday tilt will start at 3:15. Bossen, of Newell, will referee; Deemer, of this city, will be umpire; and Hall, of the Vets, will be head linesman.

ARMY-IRISH GAME TO START AT 2 P. M.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—According to an announcement made public today, the Army-Notre Dame football game on Saturday will begin at 2 o'clock eastern time, instead of 2:30, as originally scheduled. The moving forward of the starting time was made necessary in order to adequately handle the capacity crowd of 70,000 keyed up by the prospect of witnessing the greatest game in the east this season.

The Yankee stadium was sold out weeks in advance and today thousands of late applicants, some of whom came here from distant points, were faced with the alternative of doing business with the speculators or returning home. Scalpers on Broadway declared they expected to get $25 each for three dollar tickets by Saturday.

Absolutely even money prevailed in the betting, even though the announcement of Trapnell's recovery from injuries served to boom West Point's stock. The game was expected to develop a duel between the Army's power and Notre Dame's speed and deception.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Army's football stock soared today following the announcement that Trapnell, backfield ace who has been on the injured list, will play against Notre Dame on Saturday.

He's a Sweet Guard and Papa

STATE CALLS HIM ONE AND ED JR. THE OTHER

By Norman E. Brown.

VIC DONAHEY is going to remain in Ohio's capital another two years as governor of the state as a result of the recent elections. And students and alumni of Ohio State University, the best publicity the city has, wishes that a popular vote alone was necessary to keep Ed Hess there the same length of time or longer. As it is he is serving his last fall there.

For "Big" Ed, as he's known, is not only one of the greatest guards in the grid game today (and, ladies and gentlemen I say it without fear of contradiction) but one of the most popular gents that has worn O. S. U.'s colors any place—including the debating platform. He was an universal choice for all-American teams last fall.

"Sweet Papa," murmur the spectators when Hess elects to open up a hole in the opposing line for his backfield or decides to break up the other fellow's line plunge. And the words aren't idle ones. For Ed's a mighty sweet daddy, too. Ask Ed Hess, Jr., seven months old. Little Ed may not be heavy enough for the team yet, but he's the mascot. And no one smiles broader when Big Ed rips up the field or down it with utter abandon and heavy damage to the opposition than Mrs. Marguerite Hess.

Ed is now a bonafide resident of Columbus, but he got his earlier education in northern Ohio. He attended high school at Chardon, known before Ed's coming as the coldest spot in Ohio. Ed at least made it hot for Chardon High's grid opponents.

Had Hess had a C. C. Pyle and Mr. L. M. Tobin behind him he probably would have been the first man to peddle ice for advertising purposes. For Hess was not only peddling ice ahead of Red Grange but he went Red one better. Hess soon decided that the man who hired the icemen was the man who made the dough, so he bought himself a nice ice delivery company.

He peddled just enough ice to keep in condition and answer the kicks of short weights that would drift in now and then when some of his generous employes tied to help out on their weekly salary by making 40 pounds go where 50 went before.

But this is Ed's last season at O. S. U. And most of the Buckeye boys can't get any smiles out of their chats about him—unless it is a pleasant anticipation of what they hope Hess does to Michigan and Illinois before he sings his gridiron swan song next month.

They're counting on him in those games.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

STURHAHN

He is a triple threat man and must be considered with four or five other men in selecting the leading quarters of the year in the east and all over.

Sturhahn, of Yale, demands recognition in selecting the leading linesmen of the year. He has played a brilliant game at guard for Yale all season, in the face of severe jolts handed the New Haven team by Army and Brown.

His defensive play against the powerful, well conditioned Brown eleven, was one of the high spots of the game. Being unable to handle the entire Army line alone Sturhahn was swept aside with the rest of the Bulldogs by the Soldier team.

Sturhahn typifies the new type of inner linesman which calls upon a guard to size up the play for himself and shift for it. Sturhahn is at his best on defense, although he holds his own with the best on offense.

Paul English Makes Good as Ball Carrier With West Virginia Team

PAUL ENGLISH, local athletic star and captain of the 1925 high school football team, is causing no little comment in football circles in Central West Virginia.

He is playing right halfback for Glenville State Normal school and his record to date indicates that he has been handling the job to a queen's taste.

He has scored five touchdowns in four games and his brilliant open field running has led to many other scores registered by the Glenville aggregation.

English is a good punter, an accurate passer and an exceptionally clever ball toter, these facts being more or less familiar to grid fans of the district who saw him in action during his scholastic days.

He has been running back punts for an average of 15 to 40 yards in practically every game on Glenville's schedule this season. He was on the receiving end of a triple pass a couple of weeks ago in the Morris Harvey game and stepped 30 yards for a touchdown.

English is branded as a first rank performer in Central West Virginia, critics there expressing the opinion that he certainly should make good even in larger college circles.

Yale Eleven Victim Of Social Indolence

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Charging that the Yale football team has been "babied" into a fancied series of injuries and was the victim of its own social adolence, influential Yale men today were canvassing graduate opinion in the hope of effecting sweeping reforms at New Haven. It was said on the best of authority that Tad Jones, under fire from all sides, will resign at the end of the current season, come what might.

The propagandists are no obscure and uninfluential group of grandstand managers. In fact, the names of some identified with the movement would cause a general elevation of the astonished eyebrow. They are among the biggest men in Yale's great past and quite a few of them are personal friends of Jones.

Anti-Jones Issues.

1.—That Yale players have been encouraged to take an exaggerated view of minor injuries, thus accounting for the large list of "cripples" this year.

2.—That the players spend their leisure in costly motor cars, declining to walk even a few blocks to the training table.

3.—That they are social butterflies in the off season, playing the house parties instead of the gymnasiums, and report in the fall physically unfit for football.

4.—That the training system is a joke, George Connors being paid a deserved salary of $10,000 when all Jones wants around him is a boy to carry the water bucket on Saturdays.

5.—That the coaching staff has been together so long that it has become a social clique, as much concerned with its daily golf scores as with those on the football field, if any.

6.—That the hands of Myron Fuller, line coach, have been so effectively tied that he has been unable to give his forwards three consecutive minutes of instruction, without interference.

7.—That Louis E. Stoddard, chairman of the athletic committee, is a great polo player but nobody's masterpiece when it comes to determining the football policy at New Haven.

Jones "Tin God."

8.—And, lastly, that Jones has set himself up as a "tin god." whose every word is law in spite of the fact that he lacks inspiration, is no organizer and has archaic theories of attack and defense.

These sentiments are not mine, for I know little of Jones' coaching except as it is exposed offhand in a football game. They were outlined to me today by a prominent alumnus as the sum and substance of complaints that have passed through the unofficial clearing house of graduate opinion.

This opinion, frankly, is that Jones is a "bust" and has always been one, except for a single season when he had a quarterback, Richeson, who happened to have a mind of his own. The sense of this idea is said to have reached Jones and determined him to resign immediately after the present season, when his contract expires. The gesture probably would be unnecessary, unless Yale wins both the Princeton and Harvard games.

Consider Successor.

That neither complaint nor defendant doubts there will be a change is indicated by the fact that a strictly unofficial canvess of eligibles' demands are few but exacting. The new man must be a Yale product, he must have been an oustanding player in his day for the sake of inspiration now and he must be of the new school.

I understand that Mallory, Stevens and Richeson, members of the 1924 backfield, are under consideration by the self-constituted selection committee.

MILLER VICTOR IN ONE ROUND

Miller shot three lightning-like left hooks to Snyder's jaw and just six seconds before the end of the first round the referee had intoned the tenth count over the prostrate form of the Gotham entry. A minute before Snyder had been down for a nine count.

Vets Shape Up Squad For Armistice Day Game With Toronto

Scholastic and Independent Stars Lined up by Kidder for Battle With Strong Tiger Eleven; Hostilities to be Staged at Smith Field, Chester, Beginning at 3:15 p. m.

WITH no less a gridioron personage than Al Nesser, the grand old man of football, who will add interest to the event in the apparel of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Armistice day game at Smith Field, Chester, tomorrow, between the Vets and the Toronto Tigers sizes up as one of the outstanding grid attractions of the season here.

George Kidder, high school coach, who will direct the Vets in their engagement tomorrow afternoon, today announced that Nesser, who was campaigning in pro grid ranks before the present crop of stars has donned long jeans, has consented to take a hand in the affair against the Tigers, his old team mates.

According to Kidder, Nesser had originally contemplated a visit at the W. C. Miller home in Newell over the week-end and, when asked if he would lend his talent to the Vets for the afternoon, he was unable to refuse.

Kidder announces that Nesser likely will be played at a little bit of everything during the game, starting on end, switching to a tackle or a guard and probably winding up in the backfield. The fact of the matter is that Nesser fits in well in any of these positions.

The Vets' coach has lined up his starting eleven somewhat as follows: Ends, Nesser and Loren Howard; tackles, Kidder and McBane; guards, Coleman and Kinsey; center, Cox; backs, Finley, Dunlap, Reese and Bucher. This outlay is only a probability. There will be sufficient reserve material on hand, Kidder assures, to meet any and all contingencies.

The holiday tilt will start at 3:15. Bossen, of Newell, will referee; Deemer, of this city, will be umpire; and Hall, of the Vets, will be head linesman.

RIMER IS HIGH IN IN RIFLE SHOOT

With a score of 183 out of 200 W. A. Rimer was high man in the East Liverpool Rifle club's weekly shoot, J. Wellington finished second with 173.

Other scores were: J. Springer, 161; E. Culler, 165; F. Arnold, 144; J. Barnes, 157; J. R. Whiteman, 169; S. Thompson, 54; F. Deshler, 72; Doc Jones, 128; George Douglass, 144; S. Miller, 171; J. F. Whiteman, 148; H. Stewart, 170. Rimer also had high score on single target with a perfect mark of 50.

PITT-W. & J. TILT TO BREAK TIE

Panthers and Presidents Have Won 13 Apiece.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—Dr. J. B. Sutherland and his corps of coaches at the University of Pittsburgh have been pointing, ever since Carnegie Tech was played two weeks ago, for the contest with Washington and Jefferson, which is to be played in the stadium here next Saturday.

The Panthers and Presidents have for years waged one of the most colorful duels of the gridiron. They have met annually with only one or two lapses for 30 years and each has won 13 games, so that this meeting will break the tie.

Despite the fact that W. & J. has won five of its six games played to date and Pitt has won three, lost two and tied one, the battle is expected to be a characteristically heated one in which previous form will count for little.

The Panthers will attempt to provide a defense that will stop Captain Bill Amos, the famous Red and Black fullback, and at the same time build an offense that will give their own ace, Gibby Welch, an opportunity to slip into the open. Last year Amos gained more ground himself than the entire Pitt backfield, although the Blue and Gold won when Wissinger, a guard, picked up a punted ball blocked by Captain Chase and dashed 80 yards for the only score of the day.

The Pitt management is expecting a crowd of from 50,000 to 60,000 to attend. Station KDKA of Pittsburgh will broadcast a play-by-play account.

YALE FIGHTS TO SAVE "REP"

Will Enter Princeton Game This Week as Underdogs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — Princeton rules a favorite over Yale for gridiron honors in their engagement in Palmer stadium on Saturday. The well deserved victory of Bill Roper's Tigers over their crimson rivals in Cambridge is the factor that lifts the Orange and Black above the Blue. In defeating Harvard the Jungletown outfit showed a diversified attack and a copper-riveted defense, two salient factors to winning football.

Yale has played good and poor football this fall. After the New Haven squad trimmed Dartmouth the gridiron authorities looked to see them go through to their final games with a clean slate. The Army is to blame for the troubles of the Elis. Biff Jones' West Point charges broke the confidence of the Blue warriors. It was not so much the strength of the Soldiers, as it was the unfortunate mistakes of Tad Jones' players that caused this loss of confidence. West Point scored five touchdowns on Yale errors.

The Elis will enter the game on Saturday the underdogs. They will be fighting to save their reputations, a far different aspect than on some former occasions. It may be this change in psychology will have its effect on Tad Jones' lads.

Tunney Enroute Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, will return to New York tomorrow from a vacation in Bermuda and will spend the week end at Stroudsburg, Pa., where he finished his training for the fight with Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia. Tunney will attend a dinner on Friday, given in his honor by Mayor C. E. Eddinger, of Stroudsburg.

Yale Star Out.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Bill Kline, star back, has been called to Dubois, Pa., by the death of his mother and may not play against Princeton on Saturday. Wadsworth will replace him.

Tigers to Scrimmage.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—With the exception of Jake Slagle, who is nursing an injury, the Princeton squad will get a stiff workout today. Rain has prevented scrimmaging this week.

Will Wear New Pants.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 10.— The Syracuse players will wear oil-skin pants, the latest novelty, if the field is muddy in the Colgate game Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Columbia varsity will hold a light scrimmage today in preparation for the Penn game. The varsity will get no heavy work this week.

Penn Prepares.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Anticipating that the Columbia game will be played on a muddy field, the Penn squad is using a wet and heavy ball in its workouts. Scull, back, has not returned to the lineup.

Notre Dame Star Shows He Doesn't Care for Crowds

Dahman Usually Runs Away From Them on Gridiron.

KNUTE ROCKNE will introduce 60 football players to the members of the Army grid team and the spectators when he lines up his men on the sidelines for the annual game with the service team at the Polo Grounds, New York, Nov. 13. And the probabilities are that in the hubbub and furore of the afternoon not all of the boys will come in for a close scrutiny by the Army officials and players.

There is one modest youth with the South Benders, for instance, who probably won't draw much attention in a crowd.

But he doesn't like crowds. That's why he finally demands attention and may get it that Saturday. He hates crowded street cars; benches and even football fields so badly that whenever he gets a chance he steps away by himself.

In the first game the Notre Dame team played this season he found the crowd on the field bothersome and ran 80 yards to get a nice quiet open space behind the Beloit goal line—with the ball.

The very next game—against the Wisconsin Badgers—he wanted to be alone—and ran 65 yards to find another cozy spot at the foot of the goal posts. Took the ball along again.

When the Rockmen faced Penn State, Dahman had his exclusive complex on again and had to wait for the crowd to catch up most of the time.

Dahman is but one of the thirty backfield men Rockne uses in his games and is tossed into the game usually, with his three mates, when he won't hurt the team's chances by running 50 to 60 yards for a touchdown.

Against the Army team Dahman will be playing a team of veterans—football daddies—who were playing college football when Dahman and his mates were waiting longingly for the day when they would be sophomores or juniors in high school. Capt. Harry Wilson, leader of the Soldiers, is playing his seventh year, for intance.

It may be that Dahman may tire of the older crowd of players and get the wanderlust again.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Even when the two arms are made to feel as if they were working as one, it still is always advisable to watch that the right arm doesn't slide too around the side, toward a position in back of the body. The right arm will shove in there very easily and when it does so the result is that the hands are too close to the head at the top of the back swing. The hands should be out from the head as far as they possibly can be at the top of the back swing—not in close toward the head. If they are in close perhaps the trouble results from the right arm going too much around the side as the club is swung back, making it too difficult for the left arm to keep straight, since the right arm, in such a position, will set up a great resistance to the left arm.

Wooster Prepares For Last Home Tilt With Akron Zippers

WOOSTER, Nov. 10. — The final home game of the Wooster college 1926 season will be played Nov. 13 with Akron University Zippers for opponents. Akron's victory over Reserve last week has impressed the Wooster team with the strength of the Rubber City crew.

Wooster fans are hoping that Big Howard Saurer, regular tackle who was injured in the Reserve victory, will be ready for this game, but there is little likelihood that he will be ready. Don Weihe is also out with a recurrence of an infection on his elbow. This kept him out of the early games of the season.

Wooster and Akron teams have battled 15 times on the gridiron. Wooster has won 12 of the games and this week, on the 13th of November are out to win the thirteenth game from Akron.

Akron sends word to Wooster that a victory here will do much to make amends for early season losses.

CHESTER BOWLERS DEFEAT EAST END

Marshall was high with a score of 173, while Patterson's 71 was the lowest.

HIGH ELEVEN IN PITTSBURGH

Guests of Richard Brian at Tech-Juanita Game.

The school players have been granted a holiday through the courtesy of Superintendent C. S. McVay and Miss Florence Updegraff, principal.

The squad will assemble at Brian's haberdashery at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. Automobiles will take them to Pittsburgh, with a trip following the game.

Would Naturalize Foreign Athletes Who Make Home Here

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—Although divided on the question, metropolitan delegates to the annual convention of the amateur athletic union's annual convention in Baltimore on Saturday may introduce a measure, barring non-citizen athletes from competing in amateur athletics in this country if they fail to take out first papers after a residence of three years. It was learned today that the twelve local delegates were divided on the issue.

Its passage by the national body would not mean the end of junkets, such as were undertaken by Paavo Nurmi and Charley Hoff during recent years but would strike at foreign athletes who have their homes in America but remain citizens of the mother country.

PITT-W. & J. TILT TO BREAK TIE

Panthers and Presidents Have Won 13 Apiece.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—Dr. J. B. Sutherland and his corps of coaches at the University of Pittsburgh have been pointing, ever since Carnegie Tech was played two weeks ago, for the contest with Washington and Jefferson, which is to be played in the stadium here next Saturday.

The Panthers and Presidents have for years waged one of the most colorful duels of the gridiron. They have met annually with only one or two lapses for 30 years and each has won 13 games, so that this meeting will break the tie.

Despite the fact that W. & J. has won five of its six games played to date and Pitt has won three, lost two and tied one, the battle is expected to be a characteristically heated one in which previous form will count for little.

The Panthers will attempt to provide a defense that will stop Captain Bill Amos, the famous Red and Black fullback, and at the same time build an offense that will give their own ace, Gibby Welch, an opportunity to slip into the open. Last year Amos gained more ground himself than the entire Pitt backfield, although the Blue and Gold won when Wissinger, a guard, picked up a punted ball blocked by Captain Chase and dashed 80 yards for the only score of the day.

The Pitt management is expecting a crowd of from 50 000 to 60,000 to attend. Station KDKA of Pittsburgh will broadcast a play-by-play account.

YALE FIGHTS TO SAVE "REP"

Will Enter Princeton Game This Week as Underdogs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — Princeton rules a favorite over Yale for gridiron honors in their engagement in Palmer stadium on Saturday. The well deserved victory of Bill Roper's Tigers over their crimson rivals in Cambridge is the factor that lifts the Orange and Black above the Blue. In defeating Harvard the Jungletown outfit showed a diversified attack and a copper-riveted defense, two salient factors to winning football.

Yale has played good and poor football this fall. After the New Haven squad trimmed Dartmouth the gridiron authorities looked to see them go through to their final games with a clean slate. The Army is to blame for the troubles of the Elis. Biff Jones' West Point charges broke the confidence of the Blue warriors. It was not so much the strength of the Soldiers, as it was the unfortunate mistakes of Tad Jones' players that caused this loss of confidence. West Point scored five touchdowns on Yale errors.

The Elis will enter the game on Saturday the underdogs. They will be fighting to save their reputations, a far different aspect than on some former occasions. It may be this change in psychology will have its effect on Tad Jones' lads.

Tunney Enroute Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, will return to New York tomorrow from a vacation in Bermuda and will spend the week end at Stroudsburg, Pa., where he finished his training for the fight with Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia. Tunney will attend a dinner on Friday, given in his honor by Mayor C. E. Eddinger, of Stroudsburg.

Yale Star Out.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Bill Kline, star back, has been called to Dubois, Pa., by the death of his mother and may not play against Princeton on Saturday. Wadsworth will replace him.

Tigers to Scrimmage.

PRINCETON, N J., Nov. 10.—With the exception of Jake Slagle, who is nursing an injury, the Princeton squad will get a stiff workout today. Rain has prevented scrimmaging this week.

Will Wear New Pants.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 10.— The Syracuse players will wear oil-skin pants, the latest novelty, if the field is muddy in the Colgate game Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Columbia varsity will hold a light scrimmage today in preparation for the Penn game. The varsity will get no heavy work this week.

Penn Prepares.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Anticipating that the Columbia game will be played on a muddy field, the Penn squad is using a wet and heavy ball in its workouts. Scull, back, has not returned to the lineup.

Notre Dame Star Shows He Doesn't Care for Crowds

KNUTE ROCKNE will introduce 60 football players to the members of the Army grid team and the spectators when he lines up his men on the sidelines for the annual game with the service team at the Polo Grounds, New York, Nov. 13. And the probabilities are that in the hubbub and furore of the afternoon not all of the boys will come in for a close scrutiny by the Army officials and players.

There is one modest youth with the South Benders, for instance, who probably won't draw much attention in a crowd.

But he doesn't like crowds. That's why he finally demands attention and may get it that Saturday. He hates crowded street cars; benches and even football fields so badly that whenever he gets a chance he steps away by himself.

In the first game the Notre Dame team played this season he found the crowd on the field bothersome and ran 80 yards to get a nice quiet open space behind the Beloit goal line—with the ball.

The very next game—against the Wisconsin Badgers—he wanted to be alone—and ran 65 yards to find another cozy spot at the foot of the goal posts. Took the ball along again.

When the Rockmen faced Penn State, Dahman had his exclusive complex on again and had to wait for the crowd to catch up most of the time.

Dahman is but one of the thirty backfield men Rockne uses in his games and is tossed into the game usually, with his three mates, when he won't hurt the team's chances by running 50 to 60 yards for a touchdown.

Against the Army team Dahman will be playing a team of veterans—football daddies—who were playing college football when Dahman and his mates were waiting longingly for the day when they would be sophomores or juniors in high school. Capt. Harry Wilson, leader of the Soldiers, is playing his seventh year, for intance.

It may be that Dahman may tire of the older crowd of players and get the wanderlust again.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Even when the two arms are made to feel as if they were working as one, it still is always advisable to watch that the right arm doesn't slide too around the side, toward a position in back of the body. The right arm will shove in there very easily and when it does so the result is that the hands are too close to the head at the top of the back swing. The hands should be out from the head as far as they possibly can be at the top of the back swing—not in close toward the head. If they are in close perhaps the trouble results from the right arm going too much around the side as the club is swung back, making it too difficult for the left arm to keep straight, since the right arm, in such a position, will set up a great resistance to the left arm.

Wooster Prepares For Last Home Tilt With Akron Zippers

WOOSTER, Nov. 10. — The final home game of the Wooster college 1926 season will be played Nov. 13 with Akron University Zippers for opponents. Akron's victory over Reserve last week has impressed the Wooster team with the strength of the Rubber City crew.

Wooster fans are hoping that Big Howard Saurer, regular tackle who was injured in the Reserve victory, will be ready for this game, but there is little likelihood that he will be ready. Don Weihe is also out with a recurrence of an infection on his elbow. This kept him out of the early games of the season.

Wooster and Akron teams have battled 15 times on the gridiron. Wooster has won 12 of the games and this week, on the 13th of November are out to win the thirteenth game from Akron.

Akron sends word to Wooster that a victory here will do much to make amends for early season losses.

CHESTER BOWLERS DEFEAT EAST END

Marshall was high with a score of 173, while Patterson's 71 was the lowest.

HIGH ELEVEN IN PITTSBURGH

Guests of Richard Brian at Tech-Juanita Game.

The school players have been granted a holiday through the courtesy of Superintendent C. S. McVay and Miss Florence Updegraff, principal.

The squad will assemble at Brian's haberdashery at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. Automobiles will take them to Pittsburgh, with a trip following the game.

Would Naturalize Foreign Athletes Who Make Home Here

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—Although divided on the question, metropolitan delegates to the annual convention of the amateur athletic union's annual convention in Baltimore on Saturday may introduce a measure, barring non-citizen athletes from competing in amateur athletics in this country if they fail to take out first papers after a residence of three years. It was learned today that the twelve local delegates were divided on the issue.

Its passage by the national body would not mean the end of junkets, such as were undertaken by Paavo Nurmi and Charley Hoff during recent years but would strike at foreign athletes who have their homes in America but remain citizens of the mother country.

ENTERTAINING ANGEL

It's another Samuel Merwin story—new in subject matter and new in manner—clean, interest-holding and brilliantly written. This charming tale begins in the Review-Tribune next Monday. Watch for the opening chapter.

How To Wind Up.
No Talk, Then Action.
See Cuba, Then Invest.
Is Satan a Liar?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

TOMORROW President Coolidge will dedicate a great war memorial in Kansas City. The monument, costing $2,000,000, consists of two fine buidings and a shaft 216 feet high, flanked by three high, massive walls.

The president will make a good speech, as usual. Many will hear it on the radio. It might end thus:

"This memorial shaft points to a sky in which we have no air fleet, and it points to a great danger."

ITALY'S new laws defending the Fascist government are as severe as laws with which the czar protected his person, vainly. Hard labor in the Italian penal colonies is the punishment for talking or writing against the government or its policies, or assailing the national credit.

History shows that when you take away free expression of opinion you take away the safety valve. If man can't talk they will act, therefore Britain lets them talk all they please.

Mussolini takes the other course, an interesting experiment for [illegible] century.

OKI[illegible] unused[illegible] supply the state for 26,000 years more.

But 26,000 years hence coal will be used for heat and power as little as whale oil is now used for light. Men used to wonder how they would read when whales died out. We shall have to go back to candles, they said. But they went ahead to kerosene and electric light.

What Do You Know About Salad Making?

Canned foods lend themselves so readily to successful salad making that every housekeeper should endeavor to have in reserve a small stock of the fish, fruits and vegetables which are most popular for this form of cookery, for the emergencies which arise in even the most perfectly managed households.

With a bottle or two of prepared salad dressing in addition she may in the twinkling of an eye add a salad course to her menu and such a salad course, too, as would not be possible were she to rely solely on the green goods available in the market.

But to do this she will need the recipe booklet on canned foods which this bureau has for distribution. This booklet tells how to prepare 25 salads and 10 different salad dressings.

It is yours for the asking. Just enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

I enclose herewith four cents instamps for a copy of the booklet RECIPES FOR CANNED FOODS.

Doheny, millionaire oil operator, pleaded not guilty to formal indictments charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government in the leasing of naval oil reserves in California.

A. G. Pleas Quickly Concluded.

The central figures in the "oil scandal" were arraigned in district supreme court, on the first of four indictments growing out of the leasing of the naval oil reserves by Fall to Doheny and to Harry F. Sinclair. Today's pleadings concerned only Fall and Doheny and the Elk Hills reserve in California.

The arraignments were quickly concluded. Attorneys for the defendants waived the reading of the lengthy indictment, and both Fall and Doheny replied in loud, firm tones, when their names were called:

"Not guilty."

Doherty's counsel consisted of Frank J. Hogan, Harold Walker and J. J. Cotter of Washington and Fred R. Kellogg of New York.

Defendants In Good Spirits.

Both Fall and Doheny appeared in good spirits and appeared confident as to the outcome of their case. Old friends for many years, they chatted together amiably as they waited for the arrival of Justice Hoehling.

Today's arraignment was a necessary formality to the trial of the two men on the indictment, due to start here on Nov. 22.

There are three other indictments in the oil cases—one naming Fall and Sinclair for conspiracy; another charging Fall, Doheny and the latter's son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., with conspiracy and bribery; and another charging Sinclair with contempt of the senate for declining to answer on these indictments.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED

Colder Weather Tonight; 60-mile Gale Whips Lake

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—Flurries of snow and temperatures ranging a few degrees below freezing accompanied the first severe manifestation of winter here today.

Sporadic snow storms were reported in other northern Ohio cities. The weather prediction was for colder weather tonight.

AUTOPSY CHIEF IN HALL-MILLS CASE QUIZZED

Dr. Hegeman Faces Merciless Barrage From Prosecutor.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURT HOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 10.—Dr. R. F. Hegeman, of Somerville, who four years ago performed the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer slain with the Rev. Edward W. Hall in De Russey's lane, today was subjected to a merciless barrage of questions by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson when he testified he did not know whether the young woman's tongue and larynx were cut out by the murderers.

Dr. Hegeman was asked to tell the jury just what he found when he made the autopsy on Mrs. Mills after she was slain on September 14, 1922.

Shot Three Times.

I found that Mrs. Mills had been shot three times in the head, each bullet penetrating the brain, one bullet passing through the head, the other remaining in the head.

"Her throat was cut, apparently from left to right, all but four inches in the mid-section of the back of the neck. The muscles were severed down to the spinal column. The wind pipe and gullet were cut."

Dr. Otto H. Schultze, autopsy expert, of New York, who performed an autopsy on October 28 this year, after Mrs. Mill's body had been exhumed, testified that the tongue was missing when he made his autopsy. Shaking his finger at Dr. Hegeman, Simpson asked:

"Did you find her tongue cut out?"

"You say her neck was nearly severed, her head nearly cut off, and yet you say you can't tell whether her tongue was cut out?"

"I saw no such evidence," said Dr. Hegeman, shifting uneasily on his chair.

"Do you say that the tongue and the larynx were present at that time?"

"No, sir."

"Did you put in your notes these organs were absent?"

"No, sir."

President Will Visit Kansas City in Two States.

BUSY TOMORROW

Nation's Chief Will Dedicate $2,000,000 War Memorial.

By George E. Durno.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—The train bearing the President and Mrs. Coolidge to Kansas City arrived in Pittsburgh at 8:39 a. m. today from Washington, and departed at 8:48 a. m. over the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania railroad.

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—Tomorrow, for the second time in history, a president will visit Kansas City, Kansas.

President Coolidge en route to Kansas City, Missouri, to dedicate the $2,000,000 liberty memorial erected by the residents of that city to the veterans of the World war, has agreed, following the ceremonies, to cross the Kansas river and visit the other Kansas City, located in the state after which it is named.

It will mark the first time that present executive has even touched in the state of Kansas since assuming the presidency.

Experience Touch of Winter.

The presidential party faces a full day and night aboard train before reaching its destination. Apparently, those on the special train are about to experience their first touch of winter, for weather reports have told of snow and extreme cold in Kensas veering rapidly east. All members of the party had been so warned shortly before starting from the damp, murky warmth of Washington.

The president faces an exceedingly busy seven hours tomorrow in Kansas City, Mo. Arriving shortly after breakfast he will motor to the Muhlebach hotel for a short rest. Then comes the dedicatory exercises at the war memorial Following is a luncheon and then the visit to the sister city across the river. At 3:30 in the afternoon, he departs for the capital.

In addition to Mrs. Coolidge, the president is accompanied by Secretary of War Davis, Secretary Everett Sanders, Col. S. A. Cheney and Captain Wilson Brown, military and naval aides, and Major J. F. Coupal, official physician.

Newell Man Faces Charge of Selling Stolen Automobile

August Ramonde, Newell grocer, has been released on $500 bond by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley until Nov. 20 upon charges of selling a stolen automobile, preferred by Howard Parsons, East End motor car dealer.

Ramonde claims that the bill of sale for the car which was sold to Parsons is held by an out-of-town discount company.

The car, it is alleged, is one of the hundred or more which were stolen in the Pittsburgh district about a year ago and sold in East Liverpool, Steubenville and other eastern Ohio towns. Ramonde denies that he knew the car was stolen when he purchased it. The car was recently seized by Pennsylvania authorities and returned to its owner in Pittsburgh.

Senate Meets as Impeachment Court; Accused is Absent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—For the tenth time in American history the senate met today as a court of impeachment to try former Federal Judge George W. English, of Illinois, on charges of high crimes and misdemeanors in office—but without a prisoner at the bar.

As Judge English resigned from the federal bench a week ago, administration leaders agreed to adjourn the court until December 13 to allow the house time in which to recommend dismissal of the charges.

This procedure would follow a precedent established in 1799 when impeachment charges against William Blount, a senator from Tennessee, were dismissed after he resigned from the senate.

OHIO FARMER FOUND GUILTY OF UXORICIDE

MERCY REFUSED

Scott Workman Admits Brutal Murder of Wife.

BATAVIA, O., Nov. 10.—"Guilty of first degree murder without recommendation of mercy."

That was the verdict hanging over the head of Scott Workman, New Richmond farm tenant, today, following the report of the jury late yesterday, shortly after the conclusion of his trial for the killing of his wife, Nora, last August.

Workman had admitted he fired three shots into his wife's body while she was nursing an eight months' old baby at her breast. He pleaded for mercy, however, on the grounds that he was insanely intoxicated at the time.

It was the first verdict of first degree without a mercy recommendation in Clermont county for 36 years.

A motion for a new trial will be heard Saturday.

With Death Toll Expected to be Increased to 20 Before Nightfall, Stunned Residents of Charles County Begin to Reconstruct Order Out of Chaos.

HOUSES FLATTENED, TREES UPROOTED AND VEHICLES SCATTERED BY TWISTER

Tornado, Striking With Demoniac Fury Leaves in Its Wake Narrow Strip About 12 Miles Long and Scarcely 500 Yards Wide Through Placid Countryside Near La Plata.

LA PLATA, Md., Nov. 10.—With a death list of 18, which probably will be increased to 20 by nightfall, stunned residents of Charles county began today to reconstruct some order out of the chaos that swept down from the skies late yesterday in the form of a savage, twisting tornado.

It left in its wake a narrow strip about 12 miles long and scarcely 500 yards wide through this placid Maryland countryside, and made of it a shambles which held the bodies of 15 school children and three adults, and more than 40 injured.

Houses were flattened, trees uprooted, vehicles scattered, but the twister reserved most of its fury for the little frame schoolhouse that stood atop a knoll on the edge of the village. There it struck with demoniac fury, lifted the two-room structure from its foundation and hurled it 150 feet away a mass of broken timbers in a grove of trees.

There were 55 children at their desks in the schoolhouse when the twister struck. Fifteen of them are dead today, and a dozen others are hurt so seriously that [illegible] injured remain.

Names of Victims.

The dead:
Jackie Clark, 12.
Harry Claggett, 8.
Charles Edwards, Jr.
James L. Martin, 6.
Edward Bean, 10.

Lucille Miles, 12.
Mary Alice Cooksey, 12.
Lillian Della.
John Tearer, 10.
Lester Sinclair, 7.
Lucille Edwards, 10.
Louis Swann, 11.
Rufus Watts, Negro, and child.
Lulu Patterson, Negro.
James W. Maddox.

One Pupil Unscathed.

There was but one pupil in the school who escaped entirely unscathed in the destruction of the building—little "Johnny" Burr, 11. He had a desk near a window. When the building began to shake and there was the first rumble of cracking timbers, Johnny jumped out of the window and ran for help.

Before he was a hundred yards away he looked back and saw the building literally lifted from its foundation, bumped over the ground in a series of grinding roars, and then dumped into the grove of trees. Johnny legged it all the faster. He staggered into the home of the Rev. W. S. Heighman, nearby, and blurted:

"The schoolhouse has blown away. Telephone everybody."

A Miss Guiler, who recently rented an apartment in the building, was missing following a check-up of the list of 25 tenants, all of whom fled scantily clad when flames menaced their apartments.

10 C. & P. ORE CARS IN WRECK

STEUBENVILLE, Nov. 10.—Passenger and freight traffic over the Cleveland-Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad was at a standstill throughout the night, as the result of a train of 10 ore cars being wrecked at Stratton, 10 miles east of this city. Transfer of passengers to Cleveland, Pittsburgh and other points was effected at the scene early today. Tracks were torn up for a distance of 200 yards, but no trainmen were injured, although all 10 cars overturned.

Then will follow a two-minute period of silence in memory of the war dead. During this interval all business will be suspended and clerks in stores will stand at attention, and street cars within the corporate limits, will be stilled.

BOWDLER CASE IS APPEALED

Former Attorney Here Fights Prison Sentence.

Cases of A. E. Bowdler, former East Liverpool attorney, and Gordon D. Ulyatt, Wheeling investment bankers, who were recently sentenced to terms of five years in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville and to pay fines of $5,000 each for violation of the state speculative securities act, have been carried to the state supreme court on error.

Judge J. Harold Brennen, in the Ohio county circuit court at Wheeling, has dismissed writs of error granted recently in connection with the conviction of Bowdler and Ulyatt, officers in the Real Estate Guarantee Mortgage company. Had the writs been allowed to stand the two men would have received new trials. The cases had been carried to the circuit court from the intermediate court where the convictions were voted by a jury early last January after an 18-day trial.

Bowdler and Ulyatt were charged with mismanagement of the funds belonging to the mortgage company, hundreds of investors in the Panhandle district of West Virginia losing when the institution was closed upon orders of the West Virginia state banking commissioner. The collapse of the concern occurred about four years ago.

Stays of execution have been granted pending the action of the state's highest tribunal.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells — builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

A Special Showing of Frocks For Little Women

These fashions for little women have been established on the statistical fact that about 60 per cent of women are little women; and on the experience that many women of short stature find Misses' Models too scantily proportioned for their fuller figures and too juvenile in style. These little women's fashions are so designed that the lines of the garments are those most effective on the short figure.

Practically no alterations because of narrow shoulder effect, allowance for arm muscles or flesh, proper sleeve length, liberal allowances at hips and correct adaptable dress length.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK FIVE—VIII.

They gave him, of course, only the most trifling assignments at the start. But the least of them thrilled him. He loved the voice of the city editor, rasping "Hamill;" the dash to some out-of-the-way place to get some unimportant item; the privilege of mentioning the name of the Log by way of identification. He loved to return and seat himself at one of those battered typewriters, with his shoes hooked about the legs of his chair and his body hunched over, and watch words leap out in lines from the tips of his fingers. This was fulfillment, in small degree, of his secret ambition. Writing. Putting things down on paper. Seeing them in print. . . . It means much to be able to open an edition to a certain page, and point, and say, "That's mine," even though "that" might be nothing more vital than a string of obituary notices collected over the 'phone or a paragraph beginning, "An exhibition of useful and fancy articles made by inmates of the Hudson Home for the Blind" . . .

Unfortunately, however, work did not fill every waking hour. His evenings were miserable. He spent them at home, reading a little, brooding much, stubbornly thwarting the efforts of his friends to provide him with entertainment. "For gosh sakes, Jock, anybody'd think you were in mourning!" Peg wailed, after her tenth invitation to Washington Square had been turned down. To which Jock replied—though not aloud "I am."

As a matter of fact his avoidance of companionship was less in mourning than in self-defense. He feared that people might try to talk to him about Yvonne, and as yet he winced whenever that spot was touched by any finger—whether curiously prodding or gently compassionate made no differences. In this respect his mother was a source of satisfaction, for she had the great good sense to behave as though nothing whatever had happened. He appreciated this the more because he suspected she was glad of his catastrophe, and because he thought, since he had given her but the barest outline of it, she must be burning with unasked questions. He could not guess that Mrs. Hamill felt no need of questions; that her understanding was far deeper than his own, and her new thought of Yvonne a mixture of gratitude, admiration, and something akin to love. "Some day," she told Saunders Lincoln, "—not for a long, long time, of course, but some day, I'm going to let Jock know what a beautiful thing it was that that girl did."

IX.

He saw Peg only four or five times in as many months, and Cecily he did not see at all. Through Peg and Johnny, who had evidently adopted her as one of their intimates, he kept track of her goings and comings. She was at Palm Beach with her parents. No, she wasn't married yet, but Bill Burnholme had followed her down there. . . . She was back from Palm Beach and would sail for Europe in tw oweeks. (During those two weeks he telephoned twice "just to say hello," but did not find her in.) . . . She was in Europe. She was having a wonderful time. Her letters, Peg said, spoke enthusiastically of some young French count she had met at Deauville. She expected to return to the states the last of May. . . . She had returned, and was visiting friends in Cleveland. No, she wasn't married yet. No, nobody knew when she intended to be married. Yes, Bill Burnholme was still reported to be slavishly attentive. One never knew, of course . . .

In June Johnny began to talk vacation plans to Jock.

They were lunching one day, as they often did, at a little cafe across the alley from the Log office where the sandwiches were ready to serve and the beer as "near" as could be expected. And Johnny said thickly, through a mouthful, "When you gonna take your vacation?"

"I don't rate one. I've only worked four months and a half."

"Sure you rate one! May be only four months and a half, but you've worked harder than any other six men do in a year! Don't think the old man doesn't know it, either. He'll see that you get a week off at least, any time you want it."

"I'm in no hurry," said Jock.

Johnny regarded him solemnly over the rim of his mug (supplied by the management to heighten the illusion). "Listen to me, boy," he ordered, setting the mug down with a thump. "My well-earned rest starts a week from Saturday. Peg and I are going to spend it down near New London, where dad has a summer place which he's agreed to turn over to us, and we're going to take a bunch along for a houseparty. And you're coming too, d'you hear?"

"I hear," Jock smiled.

"Meaning, 'but won't obey,' huh? Listen, Jock—"

"I know what you're going to say. It'll be a peach of a go, of course, but—thanks just the same. Ask me again some time, Johnny. Sometime when I'm—more in the mood."

"If ever!" Johnny said despairingly. "Look here, Jock there's no damn sense in your acting like this. It's all nonsense. Nearly five months since the thing happened — isn't it about time you staged a return to normalcy?"

There was no answer, and for some moments the pair munched and gulped in silence. Then Johnny said, "Well, if you change your mind, the latch-string's out, remember."

"Thanks. But not this time, I guess."

Cecily's going to be there—"

"Is she?" Jock queried politely.

Armistice Day Hopes

East Liverpool will observe Armistice Day tomorrow with six special programs, not to mention dancing parties and other features by fraternal societies and others. Church bells will be tolled and factory whistles and fire sirens sounded for a five-minute period preceding the truce hour—11 a. m.—followed by two minutes of silence in schools and business houses, through arrangements made by the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Veterans of Foreign Wars plan a street parade and exercises during the forenoon, followed by a dinner and afternoon football game and evening program. Hugh K. Martin, of Columbus, past department commander, will be the guest of honor at the American Legion banquet and entertainment in the evening, while Josiah Wedgewood lodge, Sons of St. George, and the sisterhood of B'Nai Israel temple will serve dinners, the Elks' lodge men will be hosts to 75 children of the McCollough-Jefferson County home and Knights of Columbus have an "open house" program for members and friends.

It is eight years since the World war ended and more than 12 years since it began. This anniversary is now observed throughout the allied countries chiefly to honor the men and women who lost their lives in that war. Its observance also emphasizes the ending of a war that was tearing civilization to pieces.

Yet statesmen are still struggling to solve some of the problems which arose from the war or which the war was expected to solve. Perhaps there is a little more hope in their efforts these days than formerly, in spite of wars and squabbles in many quarters of the globe.

Hope lies in the fact that certain old barriers formerly considered inevitable and unalterable are being torn down, that various nations are getting together on problems of commerce and economics that formerly stood apart in these matters.

Since misunderstandings and jealousy in these fields have usually led to wars, it seems possible that understanding and mutual helpfulness may postpone to a more remote future the resumption of military warfare as a means of accomplishing anything worth while for any nation.

If the postponement could be made permanent, the world would gain greatly, but not all nations or all leaders or all private citizens have yet reached that conclusion.

The Lucky Farm Lad

Country boys usually envy city boys, and city boys usually think country boys have a hard time of it. Then the country boys move to town and beat the city boys in the game of life. How is this contradiction to be reconciled?

The Saskatchewan Farmer explains it very clearly. The farm boys actually have greater advantage than the city boys. On the whole, they get a superior training, little as they realize that fact. They learn their responsibilities as members of the family and they gain the self-reliance and confidence that come from a mastery of every-day tasks on the farm.

"The reason that the country boy does so well in town, and so often climbs to high positions in business, professional or public life, is not that he has any more brains or native ability than the city chap, but that he has learned from a child to accept responsibility, to regard hard work as the natural and proper duty of every citizen, with play coming only after the work was done. The careless, irresponsible lives of the majority of city children, handicap them in the battle of life."

This is probably truer today than it ever was before. Wherefore it may be taken for granted that the cities are destined one of these times to have a victorious invasion of country boys on a scale heretofore unknown.

The average country boy seems to be working just about as responsibly as ever, with better facilities for learning than he used to have, and the city boy is disposed to take things easier than ever before.

Early Christmas

Before the Thanksgiving turkey has been ordered or the menu even planned, the Christmas display is upon us and the stores are urging people to shop now. It may seem like rushing things a little, but perhaps it isn't such a bad idea. At any rate, it shows the tendency to get these things done and out of the way.

The campaign for shopping early, on the part of the stores, has been aided greatly by the postoffice plea to mail early.

If the Christmas list is made out now and the shopping completed, or nearly so, in the next two weeks, a good many individuals will have an added reason for being thankful when they sit down to the time-honored feast on November 25.

In some cities pedestrians have a right to step into the street to hail a trolley car 200 feet away. But most of them have discretion enough not to do it.

"Give light," said Dante, "and the people will find their own way." But most of our motorists are giving the fellows ahead so much light they can't see a blamed thing.

Great Britain is the only country that ever was able to live and pay its debts without working.

TO THIRST OR NOT TO THIRST.

On the subject of prohibition enforcement or the lack of the same, there had been a brief but somewhat heated argument between the zealous woman reformer who favored the eighteenth amendment and the elderly Kentuckian who abhorred the idea of total abstinence whether compulsory or voluntary.

"But my dear major," said the earnest lady, "consider the matter from the standpoint of longevity."

"Bah!" snorted her opponent. "I repeat it, madam—bah! What has temperance to do with longevity?"

"A great deal. Statistics prove that teetotalers live, on an average, twelve years longer than those who regularly use alcohol as a beverage."

"Madam," said the major, "why should I sell my birthright for a mess of dotage?"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—No Mayor has so blended with the spirit of Broadway as Jimmy Walker and this picturesque, snappily dressed young man has fitted snugly into the White Way decor without seemingly losing one whit of his dignity.

Walker is fond of the theater, boxing and the night clubs. He is a ringside seater, but he has happily not neglected his chores at city hall. He works hard and plays hard and somehow this frail young genius recalls Edna Millay's lines:

My candle burns at both ends;
It will not last the night;
But ah, my foes, and oh, my friends—
It gives a lovely light!

So far Mayor Walker has held up under the gruelling grind but anxious friends have pleaded with him to take more rest. He loves the crowds and the places where the chandeliers blaze brightest, because he is so thoroughly and vibrantly alive.

From Van Wyck to Hylan, New York has never had a real mixer at city hall. Walker makes up for it. He is adaptable in all gatherings. Suave and genial he wins any crowd but those who mistake his geniality for vacillation soon find he has a flinty reserve that is chilling. The iron fist is velvet sheathed.

Like Broadway, he is gay and a trifle gaudy in dress. His shirts with collars to match may be pink, coffee brown or canary yellow and his lapel usually flowers with a rose. His boon companion in relaxing hours is Billy Seaman, a likeable scion of a wealthy family who loves the lights.

Walker is not a "sport" in the meaning of that term. His pleasure jaunts are innocent diversions and quite respectable. They merely satiate his thirst for conversation, laughter and companionship. His worst enemies could not intimate fairly he is neglecting the city he loves so whole heartedly.

Speaking of gaiety, I have received a telegraphic invitation to an affair which reads: "Come at eight. Dancing, groceries but no bathtubs." Sounds like a tame affair for New York.

And on the other hand a swooning lady was carried from one of those apartment house buildings aristocratically known by only a number the other night. She had been attending a party and had wrenched an ankle playing a hilarious game known as blind man's buff.

Most of those affairs starting out to be hey! hey! parties these days curl up at the first quarter post. The potency of the gin perhaps but whatever it is the guests appear to reel home before midnight. They are faintly conscious of the agonizing morning to come and, gosh, how they dread it!

All the bootleggers are issuing typewritten screeds to customers to buy early because a holiday shortage is apparent. The old wolf cry with the usual result. And the usual bad hooch. Still liquor must have been potent in other days which recalls Bill Nye's famous line: "Yesterday I made several New Year's calls, I am told."

Erudition in filmland as culled from a trade paper: "When Hall Caine wrote 'The Garden of Allah' he had no thought of film royalties nor did Kipling with his "A Dolls House."

Yet, I think the best line of all was when a film magnate bidding farewell to Maurice Maeterlinck enroute to Hollywood to try his hand at films said, "I hope you make good Mr. Maeterlinck."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Beauty Shop Business.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Five years ago a prosperous southern city of some 20,000 population had but one beauty shop or hairdressing establishment, and it had just opened for business. Today it has 18 such shops.

This is cited by a Washington authority as a fair illustration of the rate at which the business of purveying to the toilet requirements of milady has expanded in the last few years. It has been a phenomenal growth. Official figures have not yet been compiled that will show what American women are spending in the course of a year for manicures, massages, hair-cutting, hairdressing, shampoos, cosmetics, and all other aids to beauty, but it is estimated that it will run so far into the millions that the business may almost be classed as one of the country's major industries.

It is known, also, that many men and women are growing rich in the business, and that what is practically a new field of employment has been opened up—new in the sense that it affords remunerative work for thousands where but scores were employed when the last decennial census was taken.

There are schools in all the larger cities where girls and women—and some men—take regular courses in training for this kind of work. One such institution in Washington has turned out 1,500 operators, as they are called, in the last four years, and it is one of the interesting features of this rapidly expanding business that every graduate from these schools means an almost immediate demand for additional trained workers.

This comes about because almost every graduate, after leaving school and taking a position for a few weeks or months to get more practical experience, opens up a shop and goes into business for herself, where she will require assistants and operators to a number dependent upon the degree of her success, and these employes in turn open shops of their own, creating still further jobs, and so on on presumptively until the limit is reached. What that limit is no one undertakes to predict at present.

How It Worked In One City.

In the southern city referred to, all its present 18 beauty shops grew out of one. A graduate of the Washington school opened up the first place, and almost immediately sent for three or four trained assistants. The latter saw opportunities for themselves and as soon as each had acquired a clientele or following among the women of the city she set out to be a proprietor instead of a hired hand. In this way, itis said, the proprietors of all the added 17 shops passed through the first one.

In the larger cities new beauty shops have been and are being opened at a proportionate rate and old ones are being doubled, trebled, and quadrupled in capacity. Some of them are fairly mammoth in size and most luxuriously equipped and appointed, and some of the more enterprising or more speculatively inclined of the proprietors have several establishments, a few of them as many as 15 or 20.

All of them seem to have all the business they can handle. Women customers find that they have to be as careful about making their appointments for treatments of various kinds as they do about their social engagements, and many of them have come to the point of having a regular hour at their favorite shop once or twice a week.

There are so many things that milady must have done regularly if she is to keep pace with the mad scramble for beauty! Her nails must be manicured and polished at least once a week. She must have a massage—a facial, as it is known in the vernacular of the profession—at least that often, too, and oftener if she is going in for many all-light parties and dances. Her hair must be shampooed at frequent intervals, and trimmed, and marcelled, or water-waved, or otherwise dressed just as regularly. If she goes in for a "permanent" she usually finds that the most permanent thing about it is the care that must be taken of it. And all the time she must be on the alert to make sure that no new cream, lotion, or other beautifier comes on the market that she does not learn about promptly and try out.

And while prohibition and bootleggers may be the ever-predominant topic of conversation among men and in mixed companies, wherever the fair sex hold forth among themselves, hairdressing and the other arts of the beauty shops are discussed quite as avidly, world without end. Eminent specialists are compared, a new artist in a particular line is given the word-of-mouth advertising that frequently makes him or her the vogue, new treatments are recommended, and long stories are told of experiences that are as thrilling to the tellers, at least—as the yarns they used to spin about their "operations" when they went under the surgeon's knife.

Not All Are Successful.

In spite of the tremendous volume of business that there seems to be for the beauty shops, not all are successful. Many an ambitious operator who tries going into business for herself finds that she can not make the grade. She discovers that success is not assured merely because she has pleased her customers. Skill and an engaging personality are not enough. She must have business ability of no mean order, and it is said that that is a rarer asset than either of the others mentioned. Failing to make the grade, she must go back to working for some one else, and the staffs of the older well established shops invariably include a number of operators who are able to regale their clients with stories of what happened "when I was in business for myself."

Beauty shop operators, on the average, are paid from $18 and $20 up to as high as $40 a week, and in addition receive commissions on the creams, lotions, and other cosmetics which they sell. In many shops their incomes are augmented by tips, which in the case of an especially proficieit and well-liked operator may easily double her salary. In a few shops tipping is not permitted, and of course there are numerous customers who are not particularly generous with their gratuities. On the whole, however, earnings are a bit higher than they would get in any other position they are capable of filling, or for which they could equip themselves as easily or in as short a schooling or apprenticeship, and it does not take them long to accumulate the bankroll that tempts them to the great adventure.

They might not be so hasty about embarking in business on their own if they knew or would believe what the head of a Washington school says is true—that the average small shop must have enough business to keep three operators busy every minute of the day if it is to pay expenses.

One development of the remarkable growth of the beauty shop business is an agitation in several states for legislation that would require operators to pass examinations and take out licenses, but it is not regarded as likely that this movement will make any appreciable headway for a few years, at least.

WELLSVILLE MILL PLANS $500,000 IMPROVEMENTS

WORK STARTED HERE ON NEW FURNACE UNITS

ONE-YEAR JOB

Ten Units Will be Added to American Sheet Plant.

Officials of the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant here today began the supervision of work on the reconstruction of two sheet and pair furnace units, marking the first step in the possible expenditure of perhaps a half million dollars within the next year or so in this particular line of mill activity.

Inauguration of the reconstruction work program which, it is said, is really a continuation of an improvement program that has seen the expenditure of probably a million dollars in the last few years, confirms the impression that the Wellsville mill, in the future, will be one of the busy units of the United States Steel corporation.

The local plant carries a battery of 10 furnace units, each unit consisting of a sheet mill and a pair furnace. Workmen today began the dismantling of two of these units, leaving eight in operation.

In their stead will be constructed new furnaces of the latest, improved type for the heating of high grade sheet. It is expected that several months will be required to complete the job, and the improvement of both tonnage output and quality will be the direct result, inasmuch as the new type furnace will permit the working of bigger sheets.

Units five and six were selected as the first two of the 10 for reconstruction.

It is possible that the job, for these two units, may mean the expenditure of between $60,000 and $100,000. In the event that the eight other units are reconstructed the total would reach in the neighborhood of half a million dollars or less.

The work on units five and six is the first actual step in the reconstructive program.

Eight mills have been in operation at the local plant, on a 100 per cent basis, which means 16 turns a week.

Business conditions at the present time, it is said, point to a continuance of the practically full time program in the future. The expenditure of between a half and a million dollars in the last several years, over $270,000 of which went into annealing furnaces in 1924, attests to the fact, it is pointed out, that the mill is not likely to be permitted much idleness.

TAKES EASTERN GIRL AS BRIDE

Marriage of Miss Helen R. Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eddy, of Frenchtown, and Charles Van Tilberg, of Wellsville, was solemnized on Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church at Frenchtown, Pa.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. G. Van Tilberg, pastor of the Frenchtown Methodist church, and a brother of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. J. S. Tarvis, pastor of Frenchtown Presbyterian church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her attendants were Mrs. E. Dale Opdycke, of Frenchtown, a sister of the bride, who acted as matron of honor; Mrs. Robert Nelson, of Washington Crossing; Mrs. Herbert Stem, of Milford, a sister of the bride; Mrs. Charles K. Hummer, and Miss Erma Eddy. The latter is another sister of the bride.

Little Esther Ann Van Tilberg, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Van Tilberg, was flower girl, and Douglas W. Stem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stem, was ring bearer.

Preceding the ceremony a piano recital was given by Miss Beatrice Hillpot, a teacher in the Hay School of Music, Easton, and Miss Anna Trump, of Easton, sang "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," and "For You Alone." The wedding march from Lohengrin was played on the pipe organ by Miss Hillpot.

The bride was attired in a gown of satin trimmed with princess lace and with a train of satin and chiffon falling in graceful folds from her shoulders. Her veil of tulle lace was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore an attractive gown of orchid georgette trimmed with crystal beads and velvet and carried a bouquet of yellow pernet roses. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Stem each wore gowns of yellow Elizabeth crepe trimmed with velvet. The other bridesmaids, Mrs. Hummer and Miss Eddy were each attired in green Elizabeth crepe trimmed with velvet. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.

The little flower girl wore a pretty green georgette dress trimmed with green taffeta and carried a basket of baby breath and sweet peas. Flowers were strewn in the path of the bride.

G. Stewart Crawford, of New York city, was best man. The ushers were Curtis Culp, of Wellsville, O.; Herbert Stem, of Milford; Charles K. Hummer and George W. Eddy. The latter is a brother of the bride.

The bride is popular among the younger set of Frenchtown and was leading soloist in the Presbyterian church for many years. She was employed as secretary to Harry J. Able, attorney-at-law, for 13 years.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Caterer Bissell, of Easton, served dinner. Music for the occasion was furnished by Ted Baxter's orchestra, of Easton. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts which included silverware, linen, lamps, money, furniture and china.

Students Appear In "Kathleen," Musical Comedy, Thursday Night

Performance Will be Repeated Friday; Cast of 150 Completes Rehearsals; Chorus and Group Work Among Features.

The first performance of "Kathleen," musical comedy, will be given tomorrow evening by a cast of 150, including high school and grade students, in the high school auditorium. The production, said to be one of the best ever attempted by the local school, will be repeated Friday.

The plot pictures a certain Michael Flynn, the town's wealthiest man, who has determined upon the matrimonial plans of his ward, Kathleen O'Day, who does not altogether agree with her uncle's arrangements. The village grocery store, with all the picturesque characters that go with it; the proprietor, a Dutchman; the postmistress, the sheriff, the champion checker player and the village flapper contribute to the success of the comedy.

Ten choruses and groups of dancing girls and boys are prominent features. The music was written by Clayton Hotchkiss, head of the music department of Harvard, while the book and lyrics were written by Luther A. Yantes, well known to theatregoers for his stage experience and as author of many comedies. "Kathleen" is a musical comedy of quaint old New England, with many beautiful stage settings.

Duluth Lays 967,214 Square Yards of Concrete Pavements

Several years ago Duluth, Minnesota, began to pave streets with concrete. It has continued to do so every year since.

Last year, street paving awards were one hundred per cent concrete. When present contracts are completed, the city will have 967,214 square yards of this permanent pavement.

Property owners say that concrete is ideal for fine residential streets, as well as in the business districts, where heavy grinding traffic soon wears out other pavements.

They have found that concrete requires practically no maintenance, that it is safe to drive on, wet or dry, and that the extreme range of temperature common in Duluth has no effect on its durability.

These are some of the reasons why more than 1,000 cities and towns laid concrete streets in 1925.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Flexible Shoes for Flexible Feet

YOUR foot is made up of resilient arches. The 26 bones of the foot are not solidly joined together, but flexibly connected by muscles, tendons and elastic cords called ligaments. This allows full freedom of action and helps to absorb the shocks of walking.

It is clear, then, why the foot arches can be gradually broken down and the foot deformed by badly fitted shoes or those not designed on correct anatomical lines. If the foot muscles become weakened from illness or lack of exercise, the arch bones slip out of position and severe pain begins.

is largely due to its being designed in harmony with the structure and requirements of your foot.

The flexible Cantilever arch allows the muscles to function naturally. Circulation is free. The result is the maintenance or restoration of foot health.

Pyorrhea's victims are 4 out of 5

A ruthless enemy that gives no quarter is Pyorrhea. Its poisons sweep through the system, undermining health and often causing such serious diseases as rheumatism and neuritis, appendicitis, ulcers, stomach troubles and nervousness.

Four out of five past 40, and thousands younger, pay this heavy toll. But you need not fear these uneven odds.

Go to your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the gums, today. This dentifrice, the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., prevents Pyorrhea or checks its course.

It keeps gum tissue firm and healthy. It protects teeth against acids which cause decay and keeps them white.

Use Forhan's regularly, morning and night. Teach your children this good habit.

Forhan's contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid used by dentists everywhere. It is health-insurance. At all druggists'—in tubes, 35c and 60c.

No tell-tale Odor

WEDDING OFF, SUES FOR HOME

Because, he alleges, Miss Susan E. Murphy, of Petersburg, Mahoning county, failed to carry out her agreement to marry him, Martin V. Howell, 82-year-old Salem man, has taken steps in the Columbiana county courts at Lisbon to recover a $6,000 home in Salem, which he deeded to his intended bride. He is represented by Boone & Campbell, Salem law firm.

According to the petition, Howell deeded the property to Miss Murphy on October 20, 1919, after she is alleged to have consented to a marriage. The wedding was delayed, the plaintiff says, at the request of Miss Murphy, who said that she preferred to wait until the return of her sister who had undergone an operation

On or about October 4, 1923, Howell claims that he discovered that Miss Murphy had no intentions of marrying him and requested a deed for the property turned over to the woman, but that the deed was not made.

The court has issued a temporary injunction preventing Miss Murphy, described in the suit as "much younger," from disposing of the property until the litigation has been settled.

Prosecutor Simpson Plans Another Surprise Move.

EFFIGY IN COURT

By James L. Kilgallen.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 10.—"What will Simpson, the super-dramatist, do next?"

This is the question every person in any way identified with the Hall-Mills murder trial is asking.

Simpson, who is prosecuting the state's case in his inimitable way, has provided one thrill after another, and the end is not yet. He almost confounded the defense by the unorthodox, helter-skelter manner he started presenting his case. Then he wanted court adjourned to a hospital so the testimony of his star witness, Mrs. Jane Gibson, who became very ill, could be obtained. He put "surprise witnesses" on the stand who had never been heard of in the case. He "kidnaped" Mrs. Gibson from Somerville and put her in his own hospital in Jersey City.

Organs Cut from Throat.

And finally, late yesterday, he capped the climax by suddenly procuring from a brown cardboard box a grisly exhibit in the form of a plaster head and bust of a human figure which he placed on the witness stand so Dr. Otto H. Schultze, autopsy expert, could illustrate for the jury just how the beautiful young choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was shot to death and her tongue, larnyx, windpipe and throat muscles—all the organs used in singing—cut from her throat.

Today it was reported that the spectacular Simpson plans to ask Judge Charles W. Parker to permit the jury to visit De Russey's lane, the scene of the murder of Mrs. Mills and the man she loved, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, pastor of her church. Simpson thinks the jurors would get a better mental picture of the scene than they were able to visualize from the enlarged photographs that are being shown in court.

If Simpson's request is granted, he will not, however, be permitted to accompany the jury to the scene. Under New Jersey law neither lawyers for the state nor the defense would be allowed to go to the scene with the jury.

Will Recall Dr. Schultze.

It was Simpson's plan to recall Dr. Schultze to the stand today.

Schultze, with the grewsome wax mannikin before him on the railing of the witness stand, testified he found three bullet wounds in Mrs. Mills' head, one in the forehead, one in the right cheek and one on the right side of the face, all within an area of about four inches. She had been shot by .32 calibre bullets. He said he believed the tongue was cut out, not pulled out.

Schultze said one bullet killed Dr. Hall. It passed through the frontal bone on the right side of the head and came out the back of the skull. The slain pastor was not mutilated.

Louise Geist Riehl and Barbara Tough, two former maids in the Hall home, also will be put on the stand. Their testimony is expected to have a significant bearing on the trial.

DEMOLAY SHOW HERE NOV. 18-19

Rehearsals Begin for Musical Extravaganza, "Her Song."

Rehearsals for the musical extravaganza, "Her Song," which will be offered at the American theatre, Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19 under the auspices of Harding Chapter Order of DeMolay, are under way.

The rehearsals are in charge of J. G. Rockhold, a professional director with the John B. Rogers Producing company of Fostoria. Many of the leading parts have been assigned while dancing and chorus speciality numbers are progressing nicely. Rehearsals are being held nightly.

"Her Song" is the latest offering in the Rogers' repertoire. The costumes and scenery are new and the show is described as being entirely different from the usual type of musical comedies which have been offered to East Liverpool show goers in past years. It is a delightful story filled with peppy comedy, snappy dancing and unusually pleasing melodies.

The Parsees, the once-Persian people, now number only 100,000 in the world, according to recent estimates, and half of these live in Bombay.

Bars are Smashed With Axes in Dry Raid in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—Federal prohibition agents introduced Carrie Nation methods here last night in a new drive against bootlegging establishments, the bars and fixtures of two places being smashed with axes.

Several agents, led by Miles E. Evans, assistant United States district attorney, descended upon the alleged "blind tigers," captured 11 men, seized evidence and then wrecked the "joints."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—After an irregular opening, in which the trial stocks lost more than they gained on the initial sales, the stock market developed a firmer tone in the early trading today. The rails were unusually quiet, while better buying demand was in evidence for the low priced motor and rubber stocks. Oil stocks held their ground in the fact of further awkward gains in crude oil production, and specialties received some friendly held from the pools.

In anticipation of a favorable forward-tonnage report at noon today, U. S. Steel stock held firmly at which represents a recovery of about 15 points in the last two or three weeks.

A new 25,800 barrel increase in crude oil production brings the total to 2,357,000 barrels a day, an increase of 300,00 barrels a day over the same time last year.

Universal Pipe, Mutterick and the utility stocks sold up a point or more, while foundation company lost 9 and motion picture stocks were generally on the decline.

Slightly lower prices were quoted for grain and cotton futures. Sugar was firm, oil irregular, call money unchanged.

DR. MEL MORRIS SHOWS WAY TO LIFE, DEATH

SERMON TONIGHT

Salvation Army Will Visit Baptist Church Thursday.

"Our consciences are safe guides only when motivated by God's word under the leadership of the Holy Spirit" asserted Rev. Mel Morris, Maryland evangelist, at the First Baptist church revival, last evening while speaking on the theme "The Highways of Life and Death."

He declared that the Holy Scriptures alluded to nine distinct consciences: the good, pure, weak, scarred, defiled, purged and evil. "If your conscience does not bother you as many allege then it is because the influence of God's truth and spirit is not its influencing force," he said. "Such a conscience will permit you to go on the way that leads to the ultimate loss of soul."

Announcement was made that Rev. Mr. Morris' subject for this evening would be: "The Golden Calf."

On Thursday night, the revival as during the one held last winter by Rev. Mr. Morris here, will be visited by the Salvation Army, headed by its band and led by Major Joseph Hughes, commandant of the local citadel.

Numerous prayers by laymen and laywomen of the congregation took the place of the usual ministerial invocation, last night. Preceding and following these, Director Marion Ball carried out an appealing service of song. His special solo was "I Walk With the King." Miss Ruby Aley was the accompanist.

The evangelist declared that the King's highway was a narrow one, and that but few comparatively frequent it. The devil's roadway, however, he characterized as a broad one with many persons traveling theron. "But the devil's boulevard is also a crooked one, because as a serpent the evil one beguiled our first parents. Satan is crooked and accordingly makes a crooked path for crooked people. The scum of the earth travel this road. On its sides are bootleggers' dens, shady places of amusement, every questionable departure that contributes to man's down fall.

"And there are seemingly fine persons on this road. There is the so-called successful business man, the cultured, the refined, the educated. But they are judged by their exteriors God, however, looks on the interior. Too often such hearts are full of conceit. Simmered down they qualify simply as lost sinners despite their appealing appearances."

Conviction, deep and penetrating, pervaded the good sized audience of hearers, preparing the way for many to follow those who took the initial step towards conversion at the service.

In the after service of prayer, considerable personal work was done, it being enthusiastically concluded with several repetitions of the doxology following prayer by musical director.

"The scriptures conclusively point out two ways, one of which we are traveling upon in this life and which will bring us to our eternal destity," averred Rev. Morris. All of us are on one of these, the King's or devil's highway. The genuine Christian is on the former; the lost soul is walking the latter."

THE important wealth is fertile soil, and intelligent humans on it. Cuba, probably, leads the earth in soil fertility. Her great sugar cane fields go on furnishing cane forever, no replanting as in Hawaii and elsewhere.

And, by the way, Cuba, in a few weeks will have wiped out all troubles due to the big wind. Havana is back to normal already and ready for visitors. Don't die without seeing Cuba, and if you have money to invest take it with you. Wonderful chances are there. Spain, by the way, gives to Cuba special tariff advantages. This country might well do the same.

ON SUNDAY, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson talked face to face to the greatest crowd she ever drew. Thousands stood in the streets outside her temple.

All sympathized with her; many unconsciously were interested in her recent adventures.

She had promised to name "the biggest liar in the city," and named the devil. The devil is a tempter and a deceiver, but is he a liar? You read, in the book of Job, how "the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them." When the Lord said unto Satan, "Whence comest thou?" Satan answered truthfully. And he kept his word when he promised not to kill Job. He only afflicted him with boils, killed his sons and daughters, oxen, asses, etc.

Satan is vicious, but not a hypocrite or liar. That he leaves to some that use him profitably in their business.

bers had already acted as a warning to the village. It could be heard above the roar of the wind and the thrashing of trees. In a few minutes the whole village of some 800 people was on its way to the hill where the school house had stood.

Children, some hurt, some merely terror-stricken, were already beginning to emerge from the wreckage as the first of the rescuers reached the hill.

Two physicians, Dr. George D. Heath and Dr. Thomas F. Owen, were among the first to arrive. They dispatched word to Washington for ambulances and doctors. They had seen enough in a few minutes to know that there was work aplenty. Two ministers, the Rev. Father Ward and Rev. Greenwall were also soon on the scene. The Catholic priest gave several of the children the last rites of the church there amid the wreckage.

Two country hotels and the village newspaper office were turned into temporary hospitals. As fast as the children could be extricated, they were carried to the village proper and later the injured were placed in fast automobiles and hurried to Washington hospitals, 35 miles away.

Teacher's Story of Disaster.

One little fellow, Samuel Berry, 7, is alive today because the ambulance that carried him went fast enough to the hospital. The boy had one arm literally torn from his body, besides suffering a fractured skull. Physicians said today he had a chance for recovery.

Miss Ethel Graves, the 22-year-old school teacher, in charge of 35 primary pupils who was badly injured, although not seriously, said:

"It had been raining most of the day and a little before 3 o'clock the wind seemed getting stronger. I heard a rumbling noise, and looked out of the window. Things looked black and ugly. I was beginning to feel nervous, when all of a sudden the window panes blew out. The children started toward me when suddenly we all seemed to be flying through the air. Everything was whirling around and around. I guess I lost consciousness, for the next thing I knew I was lying on the ground and there was a child lying across me."

There are 300 homes in La Plata, and almost every one was touched by sorrow today, either through death or injury of children. The village authorities were consulting parents this morning and it is probable that the dead children will be buried at a community service, and in a single grave.

The services are open to the general public.

BRUSSELS GAY AS BELGIUM'S PRINCE WEDS

Leopold and Sweden's Princess in Religious Ceremony.

Monsignor Van Roye Officiates Outside of Altar.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10.—As the bells of the cathedral of Sainte Gudule rang out and guns boomed, Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium was today married to Princess Astrid of Sweden, in a solemn ceremony in the cathedral, the religious confirmation of the civil ceremony held last week in Stockholm.

Belgium was gay in its rejoicing over its new princess, and no such demonstrations have been seen since that November day eight years ago, almost to the day, when the World war came to an end.

An artillery salute of 21 guns resounded before the royal palace at 10:45, notifying the great throngs that the wedding procession had started.

Prince's Regiment on Steps.

The wedding party after its ride through throngs of demonstrative admirers drew up before the Cathedral of Sainte Gudule. And on every one of the 31 stone steps leading to the cathedral door were two lieutenants from the 78th regiment, to which the young prince belongs with swords drawn, forming an arch of glittering steel beneath which the wedding party ascended to the cathedral to receive the religious benediction. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Leopold first entered the arch of swords, followed by Prince Charles with Princess Astrid on his arm.

Monsignor Van Roye, successor to Cardinal Mercier as primate of Belgium, greeting the party at the cathedral door. Even though he had originally declined to participate in the ceremony, opposing the union because of the differences in religions, it is stated that it was on the advice of the pope that he decided to officiate.

The wedding party proceeded up the cathedral aisle and took their places before Monsignor Van Roye, near the lectern, outside of the Altar because the bride is not a Catholic.

Merry Wedding Party.

Eighteen princes and princesses, fifteen of whom were Scandinavians, and diplomatic and official guests were seated in the nave. The general public was admitted to the lateral naves.

Monsignor Van Roye blessed the rings and performed the brief ceremony, the entire service lasting but a quarter of an hour.

It was a merry wedding party, including both royal families. That sat down to a luncheon at the palace that was the work of the highest art of Belgian chefs.

The gala was concluded with a great reception given by the king and the queen at 3 this afternoon.

DR. HARDMAN, GEOGIA'S NEXT CHIEF, IS WEALTHY; INSTALLED IN JUNE

ATLANTA.—For the first time in their story of this state, Georgia is to have a governor from the ranks of the medical profession. He is Dr. Lamartine Griffin Hardman, of Commerce, Ga., millionaire cotton mill owner who takes office next June by virtue of his victory in the democratic run-off over John N. Holder, state highway commission chairman.

Hardman's victory climaxed a bitter fight over a state highway bond issue, but Hardman secured the support of J. O. Wood and George H. Carswell, "also-rans" in the first primary.

Hardman was engaged in the active practice of medicine until 1919, when he retired to devote his time to his numerous financial, industrial and agricultural enterprises. He was born in Commerce in 1856, the son of Dr. W. B. J. Hardman and Susan Elizabeth Colquitt Hardman, his mother having been a member of the famous Colquitt family which produced several distinguished figures in public life in the south.

In addition to owning the Harmony Cotton Mills, employing hundreds, Dr. Hardman owns large farms in various parts of the state. He is president of the Northeastern Banking company of Commerce, President of the Commerce Telephone company, President of the Hardman Drug company, Director First National Bank of Commerce, member executive committee state college of Agriculture, director state experiment station at Griffin, Ga., Trustee Shorter College and chairman of the Commerce Board of Education.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Taft Best-Natured, Wilson Kindest, Says Mrs. Jaffray

Harding Was Best-dressed President, While Coolidge Saves Most Money, According to White House Housekeeper.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — Willam Howard Taft was the best-natured president.

Woodrow Wilson was the kindest.

Warren G. Harding was the best-dressed.

Calvin Coolidge saves the most money.

That, at any rate, is the judgment of one who has lived in the White House for seventeen years and known the chief executives of that period, not as presidents, but as husbands, fathers and just plain human beings. Mrs. Elizabeth Jaffray, housekeeper during four administrations, is writing her reminiscences, the first of a series appearing in the current issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Mrs. Jaffray also expresses some interesting views on the first ladies she has known. She classes them thus:

Mrs. Taft was the tidiest first lady.

The first Mrs. Wilson was the most motherly.

Mrs. Harding had the loveliest clothes.

Mrs. Coolidge is ostensibly the "Happiest."

"President Taft loved to serve champagne to his guests," she writes. "In his four years in the White House, I never remember a cocktail served before dinner, but there was rarely a luncheon or dinner without champagne. President Taft, however, was a tee-totaller.

"President Taft liked every sort of food with exception of eggs. He just naturally liked food—and lots of it. His great weakness was for beefsteak at breakfast. He wanted a thick, juicy, twelve-ounce steak nearly every morning. He would get up at 7 o'clock and for two hours had a workout with a trainer in his bed-room. I remember Mrs. Taft saying:

"To think of Will being so silly as to pay that trainer $1,000 a year for punching him about."

Mrs. Jaffray also reveals there is a tragic bed in the White House, over which a hoodoo seems to hang. It is one of the twin beds used during the Taft administration. She writes:

"On this bed Mrs. Taft lay for long months ill. During the next administration the first Mrs. Wilson died in it, Mrs. Harding used the same bed and for months was ill in it.

"With the coming of the Coolidges this bed and its mate were sent to the rooms occupied by the Coolidge boys, and on it Little Calvin Coolidge suffered the agonies of blood poisoning. He was removed from it only to die at Walter Reed hospital."

Acclaim Won— Through Sheer Merit

Hupmobile Eight has outsold and is outselling cars of comparable price because it offers far more in beauty and luxury as well as in impressively finer performance.

And it has successfully invaded the field above its price, for motorists have found that higher investment can bring no greater return in the essentials that constitute sound value.

Public appreciation of a new and finer development in motoring was never shown more conclusively and promptly.

Announced two years ago, Hupmobile Eight attained immediate leadership as the ultimate perfection of the straight-eight principle. It has steadily increased its prestige and its hold on popular favor every month since.

The reasons for this striking success lie within the car itself. For Hupmobile has brought to the Eight new smoothness and agility, new engineering superiorities, and new ease of handling that literally place this car in a class apart.

We could detail at length the advanced engineering features which have contributed to Hupmobile's greatest achievement. But only a ride in the Eight will convince you that this car possesses in an enhanced degree all the virtues of the most costly cars of other types, at a price which immeasurably broadens the eight-cylinder market.

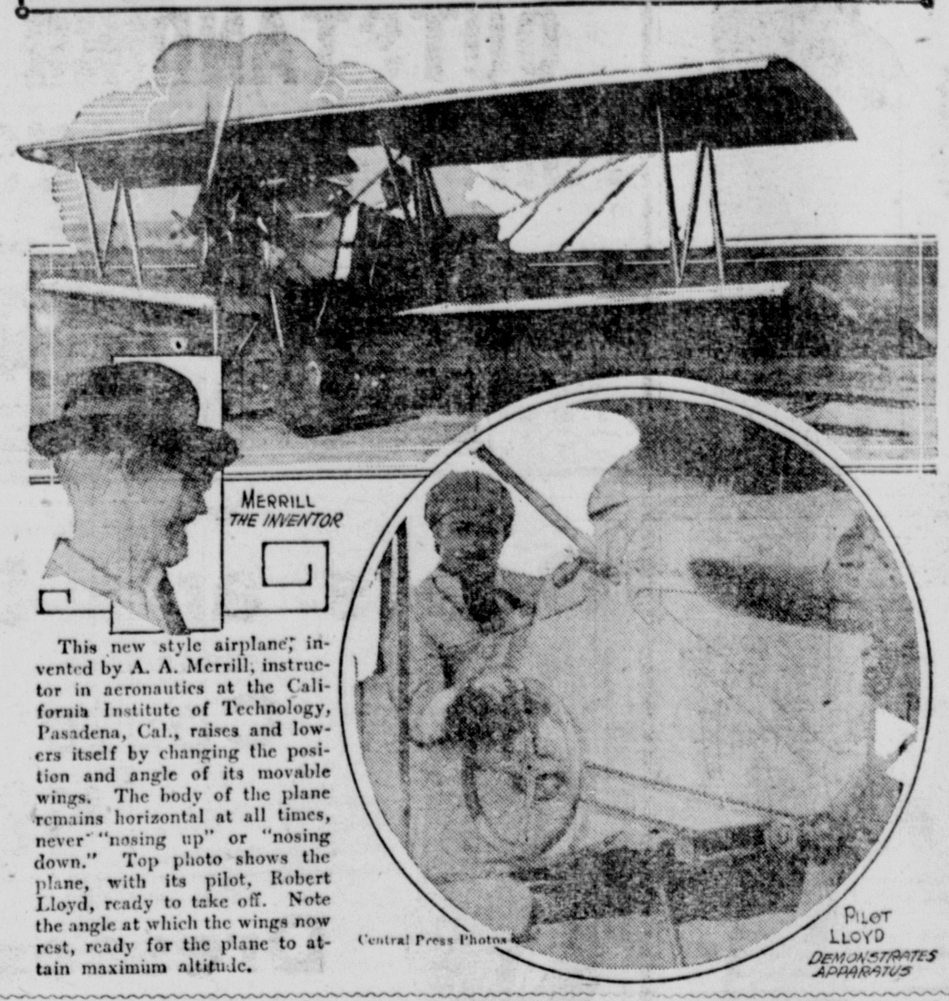
Movable Wings Raise and Lower New Style Plane



Central Press Photos

TOM MIX STAR AT AMERICAN

PYlays Detective Role in Great Train Robbery.

Tom Mix, playing the starring role of Tom Gordon, a detective, in "The Great K & A Train Robbery," Fox Films latest release, which will be shown at the American theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, disregards the danger of death from bullets as he flees from a gang of desperadoes and turns aside to rescue a girl whose horse has bolted, and who has caught her foot in a stirrup and left her head hanging near the runaway's flying hoofs.

Gordon saves her in spite of her fight to escape him because she believes he's a bandit and the pursuers are a sheriff's posse.

After she has had time to think it over, the girl concludes such a chivalrous man could not be an outlaw, and when he reappears in her own father's home, again apparently a desperado, the girl decides one good turn deserves another and hides him in a chest of her bedroom, so that he can elude her father's pursuit.

These are only two of the many dramatic touches of the Mix picture. Dorothy Dawn, who plays the feminine lead, gives the screen a new masterpiece of screen riding and acting.

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH INDIGESTION

Mr. Allan Small, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I have always lived in fear of heart trouble—my father, as well as my mother's sister, died from this dreaded affliction when I was a child. As it was on both sides of my family and I had often heard it was hereditary, I lived in dread and fear.

"As I have had at intervals severe abdominal pains, heart-burn and pressure on the heart, I felt there was no relief so I became reconciled to the horrible truth I was doomed, nothing could be done and must await my time to go as my father and mother's sister. I never dreamed I might only have intestinal indigestion, and my trouble was sour and acid stomach, causing gas pressure on the heart. Thanks to a friend who suggested Carter's Little Liver Pills as a remedy for faulty intestinal elimination, I am now free from the dreaded fear and enjoy all around good health. Small pills, easy to take and relieve the bowels in a rational way, with pleasant after effects." For sale at all druggists.

"GIRL FRIEND" HERE NOV. 16

Ceramic Announces Lew Fields' Musical Comedy.

"The Girl Friend," Lew Fields' musical comedy success, which is having a successful engagement at the Vanderbilt theatre in New York city, where "Irene" scored a tremendous success, will be played at the Ceremic theatre, Tuesday evening, Nov. 16, by a company specially selected and rehearsed by Fields. Snap, vivacity, tuneful melodies, gowns that exemplify the newest models of world-famous fashion creators worn by beautiful young women and delightful dances are said to have caused "The Girl Friend" to be voted one of the most entertaining musical plays presented in years.

In "The Girl Friend," it is claimed the auditor is regaled with humor that has naturalness of youth, music that is crisply refreshing, and lyrics that are diverting. In addition to the well-known song hits, "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room," the tinkling tunes which cling to the memory are "Why Do I?" "The Damsel Who Done All the Dirt," "Town Hall Tonight," "Good Fellow Mine," "He's a Winner," "I'd Like to Take You Home" and "What Is It?"

Let not defeated candidates mourn. There are occasions when it takes time to demonstrate how really lucky we are.—Marion Star.

COUNTY DAIRYMEN ATTENDING MEET

A number of Columbiana county dairymen are attending the annual meeting of the National Co-Operative Milk Producers' Federation which opened at the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, this morning, and which will continue until Thursday evening. There are a number of co-operative milk associations in this county, and these have elected delegates to attend this two-day session. The sessions will be presided over by Judge John D. Miller of Susquehanna, Pa., president of the National Federation.

Case Appealed.

An appeal from the court of Justice Donald Burcaw has been taken to common pleas court in the case of Lloyd Robusch against Louis Howells. This action is the result of an automobile wreck at Ellsworth and Sixth street, Salem, Sept. 4th last. Robusch seeks a judgment against the defendant for $249.90 for damages to his car and also for injuries he sustained as a result of the wreck.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle to Norman Dyke of Negley and Velma McDanel of East Palestine, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McDanel. The couple are to be married by the Rev. Beale at East Palestine.

KNOX TOWNSHIP LEVIES APPROVED

No objections have been made to the assessments that have been levied by the trustees of Knox township for the improvement of the Harrisville-Westville road, a hearing on this matter having passed the county commissioners without a single property owner appearing before the board to file an objection.

The total cost of this road has been placed at $95,795, and an assessment of 10 per cent has been made a matter of record, which will go on the December tax duplicate.

Because of the improvement of this road, a short route between Westville and Alliance is now possible, eliminating the drive through Beloit and Sebring.

State University and Wesleyan May Sever Athletic Relations.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10—A rupture of athletic relations between West Virginia University and West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon is threatened as the result of an article in the latter's school publication, attacking Captain Ross McHenry of the varsity.

The article, authorship of which college officials are trying to determine, alluded to McHenry as the most discourteous football leader ever to wear the Mountaineer uniform and spoke of him as a "Shylock" for accepting a penalty imposed on Wesleyan during their annual clash.

Nickell Kramer, president of the state university, today declared that he would await possible action by Wesleyan authorities before calling a mass meeting to consider demands for a cessation of relations.

DON LANNING IN NEW PLAY

"Top Hole," Musical Comedy, at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the local star who has scored a hit with "Very Good Eddie," is today appearing at the Ceramic theatre in the musical comedy, "Top Hole," which had a long run on Broadway with Ernest Glendenning and Claire Stratton in the leading roles.

Lanning plays the role of Bob Corcoran, a boy who is much for sport, society and spending money but not for earning any. His father, an influential judge, sends him from home to earn his own living as he may, with the agreement that if he saves $1,000 in a year he will allow him to return home and give him a responsible position in his office.

From the time he is cast out it is just a matter of one laugh after another until he faces his father in court for the theft of $1,000. All turns out well and the play has a humorous climax.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made cough syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10—A rupture of athletic relations between West Virginia University and West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon is threatened as the result of an article in the latter's school publication, attacking Captain Ross McHenry of the varsity.

Nickell Kramer, president of the state university, today declared that he would await possible action by Wesleyan authorities before calling a mass meeting to consider demands for a cessation of relations.

DON LANNING IN NEW PLAY

"Top Hole," Musical Comedy, at Ceramic Theatre.

Don Lanning, the local star who has scored a hit with "Very Good Eddie," is today appearing at the Ceramic theatre in the musical comedy, "Top Hole," which had a long run on Broadway with Ernest Glendenning and Claire Stratton in the leading roles.

Lanning plays the role of Bob Corcoran, a boy who is much for sport, society and spending money but not for earning any. His father, an influential judge, sends him from home to earn his own living as he may, with the agreement that if he saves $1,000 in a year he will allow him to return home and give him a responsible position in his office.

From the time he is cast out it is just a matter of one laugh after another until he faces his father in court for the theft of $1,000. All turns out well and the play has a humorous climax.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made cough syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Vets Shape Up Squad For Armistice Day Game With Toronto

Scholastic and Independent Stars Lined up by Kidder for Battle With Strong Tiger Eleven; Hostilities to be Staged at Smith Field, Chester, Beginning at 3:15 p. m.

WITH no less a gridioron personage than Al Nesser, the grand old man of football, who will add interest to the event in the apparel of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Armistice day game at Smith Field, Chester, tomorrow, between the Vets and the Toronto Tigers sizes up as one of the outstanding grid attractions of the season here.

George Kidder, high school coach, who will direct the Vets in their engagement tomorrow afternoon, today announced that Nesser, who was campaigning in pro grid ranks before the present crop of stars has donned long jeans, has consented to take a hand in the affair against the Tigers, his old team mates.

According to Kidder, Nesser had originally contemplated a visit at the W. C. Miller home in Newell over the week-end and, when asked if he would lend his talent to the Vets for the afternoon, he was unable to refuse.

Kidder announces that Nesser likely will be played at a little bit of everything during the game, starting on end, switching to a tackle or a guard and probably winding up in the backfield. The fact of the matter is that Nesser fits in well in any of these positions.

The Vets' coach has lined up his starting eleven somewhat as follows: Ends, Nesser and Loren Howard; tackles, Kidder and McBane; guards, Coleman and Kinsey; center, Cox; backs, Finley, Dunlap, Reese and Bucher. This outlay is only a probability. There will be sufficient reserve material on hand, Kidder assures, to meet any and all contingencies.

The holiday tilt will start at 3:15. Bossen, of Newell, will referee; Deemer, of this city, will be umpire; and Hall, of the Vets, will be head linesman.

ARMY-IRISH GAME TO START AT 2 P. M.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—According to an announcement made public today, the Army-Notre Dame football game on Saturday will begin at 2 o'clock eastern time, instead of 2:30, as originally scheduled. The moving forward of the starting time was made necessary in order to adequately handle the capacity crowd of 70,000 keyed up by the prospect of witnessing the greatest game in the east this season.

The Yankee stadium was sold out weeks in advance and today thousands of late applicants, some of whom came here from distant points, were faced with the alternative of doing business with the speculators or returning home. Scalpers on Broadway declared they expected to get $25 each for three dollar tickets by Saturday.

Absolutely even money prevailed in the betting, even though the announcement of Trapnell's recovery from injuries served to boom West Point's stock. The game was expected to develop a duel between the Army's power and Notre Dame's speed and deception.

Army Stock Soars.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Army's football stock soared today following the announcement that Trapnell, backfield ace who has been on the injured list, will play against Notre Dame on Saturday.

He's a Sweet Guard and Papa

STATE CALLS HIM ONE AND ED JR. THE OTHER

By Norman E. Brown.

VIC DONAHEY is going to remain in Ohio's capital another two years as governor of the state as a result of the recent elections. And students and alumni of Ohio State University, the best publicity the city has, wishes that a popular vote alone was necessary to keep Ed Hess there the same length of time or longer. As it is he is serving his last fall there.

For "Big" Ed, as he's known, is not only one of the greatest guards in the grid game today (and, ladies and gentlemen I say it without fear of contradiction) but one of the most popular gents that has worn O. S. U.'s colors any place—including the debating platform. He was an universal choice for all-American teams last fall.

"Sweet Papa," murmur the spectators when Hess elects to open up a hole in the opposing line for his backfield or decides to break up the other fellow's line plunge. And the words aren't idle ones. For Ed's a mighty sweet daddy, too. Ask Ed Hess, Jr., seven months old. Little Ed may not be heavy enough for the team yet, but he's the mascot. And no one smiles broader when Big Ed rips up the field or down it with utter abandon and heavy damage to the opposition than Mrs. Marguerite Hess.

Ed is now a bonafide resident of Columbus, but he got his earlier education in northern Ohio. He attended high school at Chardon, known before Ed's coming as the coldest spot in Ohio. Ed at least made it hot for Chardon High's grid opponents.

Had Hess had a C. C. Pyle and Mr. L. M. Tobin behind him he probably would have been the first man to peddle ice for advertising purposes. For Hess was not only peddling ice ahead of Red Grange but he went Red one better. Hess soon decided that the man who hired the icemen was the man who made the dough, so he bought himself a nice ice delivery company.

He peddled just enough ice to keep in condition and answer the kicks of short weights that would drift in now and then when some of his generous employes tied to help out on their weekly salary by making 40 pounds go where 50 went before.

But this is Ed's last season at O. S. U. And most of the Buckeye boys can't get any smiles out of their chats about him—unless it is a pleasant anticipation of what they hope Hess does to Michigan and Illinois before he sings his gridiron swan song next month.

They're counting on him in those games.

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

"DEATH" DOOLEY, Dartmouth quarterback, has found his light hidden under a bushel this year due to the lack of a great line—usually a Dartmouth asset. However, this great little quarter, whose return to the game this fall presaged great things for the Green team, is one of the greatest quarterbacks in the game. He is also one of the greatest booters, too. His punting has played a big part in pushing back the opposition when the Green line has been fortunate enough to hold the opposition and get possession of the ball.

He is a triple threat man and must be considered with four or five other men in selecting the leading quarters of the year in the east and all over.

Sturhahn, of Yale, demands recognition in selecting the leading linesmen of the year. He has played a brilliant game at guard for Yale all season, in the face of severe jolts handed the New Haven team by Army and Brown.

His defensive play against the powerful, well conditioned Brown eleven, was one of the high spots of the game. Being unable to handle the entire Army line alone Sturhahn was swept aside with the rest of the Bulldogs by the Soldier team.

Sturhahn typifies the new type of inner linesman which calls upon a guard to size up the play for himself and shift for it. Sturhahn is at his best on defense, although he holds his own with the best on offense.

Paul English Makes Good as Ball Carrier With West Virginia Team

He is playing right halfback for Glenville State Normal school and his record to date indicates that he has been handling the job to a queen's taste.

He has scored five touchdowns in four games and his brilliant open field running has led to many other scores registered by the Glenville aggregation.

English is a good punter, an accurate passer and an exceptionally clever ball toter, these facts being more or less familiar to grid fans of the district who saw him in action during his scholastic days.

He has been running back punts for an average of 15 to 40 yards in practically every game on Glenville's schedule this season. He was on the receiving end of a triple pass a couple of weeks ago in the Morris Harvey game and stepped 30 yards for a touchdown.

English is branded as a first rank performer in Central West Virginia, critics there expressing the opinion that he certainly should make good even in larger college circles.

Yale Eleven Victim Of Social Indolence

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Charging that the Yale football team has been "babied" into a fancied series of injuries and was the victim of its own social adolence, influential Yale men today were canvassing graduate opinion in the hope of effecting sweeping reforms at New Haven. It was said on the best of authority that Tad Jones, under fire from all sides, will resign at the end of the current season, come what might.

The propagandists are no obscure and uninfluential group of grandstand managers. In fact, the names of some identified with the movement would cause a general elevation of the astonished eyebrow. They are among the biggest men in Yale's great past and quite a few of them are personal friends of Jones.

Anti-Jones Issues.

1.—That Yale players have been encouraged to take an exaggerated view of minor injuries, thus accounting for the large list of "cripples" this year.

2.—That the players spend their leisure in costly motor cars, declining to walk even a few blocks to the training table.

3.—That they are social butterflies in the off season, playing the house parties instead of the gymnasiums, and report in the fall physically unfit for football.

4.—That the training system is a joke, George Connors being paid a deserved salary of $10,000 when all Jones wants around him is a boy to carry the water bucket on Saturdays.

5.—That the coaching staff has been together so long that it has become a social clique, as much concerned with its daily golf scores as with those on the football field, if any.

6.—That the hands of Myron Fuller, line coach, have been so effectively tied that he has been unable to give his forwards three consecutive minutes of instruction, without interference.

7.—That Louis E. Stoddard, chairman of the athletic committee, is a great polo player but nobody's masterpiece when it comes to determining the football policy at New Haven.

Jones "Tin God."

8.—And, lastly, that Jones has set himself up as a "tin god," whose every word is law in spite of the fact that he lacks inspiration, is no organizer and has archaic theories of attack and defense.

These sentiments are not mine, for I know little of Jones' coaching except as it is exposed offhand in a football game. They were outlined to me today by a prominent alumnus as the sum and substance of complaints that have passed through the unofficial clearing house of graduate opinion.

This opinion, frankly, is that Jones is a "bust" and has always been one, except for a single season when he had a quarterback, Richeson, who happened to have a mind of his own. The sense of this idea is said to have reached Jones and determined him to resign immediately after the present season, when his contract expires. The gesture probably would be unnecessary, unless Yale wins both the Princeton and Harvard games.

Consider Successor.

That neither complaint nor defendant doubts there will be a change is indicated by the fact that a strictly unofficial canvess of eligibles' demands are few but exacting. The new man must be a Yale product, he must have been an oustanding player in his day for the sake of inspiration now and he must be of the new school.

I understand that Mallory, Stevens and Richeson, members of the 1924 backfield, are under consideration by the self-constituted selection committee.

MILLER VICTOR IN ONE ROUND

Miller shot three lightning-like left hooks to Snyder's jaw and just six seconds before the end of the first round the referee had intoned the tenth count over the prostrate form of the Gotham entry. A minute before Snyder had been down for a nine count.

Hidden Flavors

In Lucky Strike cigarettes you get all that can be in any very fine cigarette—also the added pleasure produced by the extra process of toasting.

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market. But the extra process is a final touch, making Luckies far superior.

"It's toasted"

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

PITT-W. & J. TILT TO BREAK TIE

Panthers and Presidents Have Won 13 Apiece.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—Dr. J. B. Sutherland and his corps of coaches at the University of Pittsburgh have been pointing, ever since Carnegie Tech was played two weeks ago, for the contest with Washington and Jefferson, which is to be played in the stadium here next Saturday.

The Panthers and Presidents have for years waged one of the most colorful duels of the gridiron. They have met annually with only one or two lapses for 30 years and each has won 13 games, so that this meeting will break the tie.

Despite the fact that W. & J. has won five of its six games played to date and Pitt has won three, lost two and tied one, the battle is expected to be a characteristically heated one in which previous form will count for little.

The Panthers will attempt to provide a defense that will stop Captain Bill Amos, the famous Red and Black fullback, and at the same time build an offense that will give their own ace, Gibby Welch, an opportunity to slip into the open. Last year Amos gained more ground himself than the entire Pitt backfield, although the Blue and Gold won when Wissinger, a guard, picked up a punted ball blocked by Captain Chase and dashed 30 yards for the only score of the day.

The Pitt management is expecting a crowd of from 50,000 to 60,000 to attend. Station KDKA of Pittsburgh will broadcast a play-by-play account.

YALE FIGHTS TO SAVE "REP"

Will Enter Princeton Game This Week as Underdogs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — Princeton rules a favorite over Yale for gridiron honors in their engagement in Palmer stadium on Saturday. The well deserved victory of Bill Roper's Tigers over their crimson rivals in Cambridge is the factor that lifts the Orange and Black above the Blue. In defeating Harvard the Jungletown outfit showed a diversified attack and a copper-riveted defense, two salient factors to winning football.

Yale has played good and poor football this fall. After the New Haven squad trimmed Dartmouth the gridiron authorities looked to see them go through to their final games with a clean slate. The Army is to blame for the troubles of the Elis. Biff Jones' West Point charges broke the confidence of the Blue warriors. It was not so much the strength of the Soldiers, as it was the unfortunate mistakes of Tad Jones' players that caused this loss of confidence. West Point scored five touchdowns on Yale errors.

The Elis will enter the game on Saturday the underdogs. They will be fighting to save their reputations, a far different aspect than on some former occasions. It may be this change in psychology will have its effect on Tad Jones' lads.

Tunney Enroute Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, will return to New York tomorrow from a vacation in Bermuda and will spend the week end at Stroudsburg, Pa., where he finished his training for the fight with Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia. Tunney will attend a dinner on Friday, given in his honor by Mayor C. E. Eddinger, of Stroudsburg.

Yale Star Out.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Bill Kline, star back, has been called to Dubois, Pa., by the death of his mother and may not play against Princeton on Saturday. Wadsworth will replace him.

Tigers to Scrimmage.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—With the exception of Jake Slagle, who is nursing an injury, the Princeton squad will get a stiff workout today. Rain has prevented scrimmaging this week.

Will Wear New Pants.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 10.— The Syracuse players will wear oil-skin pants, the latest novelty, if the field is muddy in the Colgate game Saturday.

Penn Prepares.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Anticipating that the Columbia game will be played on a muddy field, the Penn squad is using a wet and heavy ball in its workouts. Scull, back, has not returned to the lineup.

Notre Dame Star Shows He Doesn't Care for Crowds

KNUTE ROCKNE will introduce 60 football players to the members of the Army grid team and the spectators when he lines up his men on the sidelines for the annual game with the service team at the Polo Grounds, New York, Nov. 13. And the probabilities are that in the hubbub and furore of the afternoon not all of the boys will come in for a close scrutiny by the Army officials and players.

There is one modest youth with the South Benders, for instance, who probably won't draw much attention in a crowd.

But he doesn't like crowds. That's why he finally demands attention and may get it that Saturday. He hates crowded street cars, benches and even football fields so badly that whenever he gets a chance he steps away by himself.

In the first game the Notre Dame team played this season he found the crowd on the field bothersome and ran 80 yards to get a nice quiet open space behind the Beloit goal line—with the ball.

The very next game—against the Wisconsin Badgers—he wanted to be alone—and ran 65 yards to find another cozy spot at the foot of the goal posts. Took the ball along again.

When the Rockmen faced Penn State, Dahman had his exclusive complex on again and had to wait for the crowd to catch up most of the time.

Dahman is but one of the thirty backfield men Rockne uses in his games and is tossed into the game usually, with his three mates, when he won't hurt the team's chances by running 50 to 60 yards for a touchdown.

Against the Army team Dahman will be playing a team of veterans—football daddies—who were playing college football when Dahman and his mates were waiting longingly for the day when they would be sophomores or juniors in high school. Capt. Harry Wilson, leader of the Soldiers, is playing his seventh year, for intance.

It may be that Dahman may tire of the older crowd of players and get the wanderlust again.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Even when the two arms are made to feel as if they were working as one, it still is always advisable to watch that the right arm doesn't slide too around the side, toward a position in back of the body. The right arm will shove in there very easily and when it does so the result is that the hands are too close to the head at the top of the back swing. The hands should be out from the head as far as they possibly can be at the top of the back swing—not in close toward the head. If they are in close perhaps the trouble results from the right arm going too much around the side as the club is swung back, making it too difficult for the left arm to keep straight, since the right arm, in such a position, will set up a great resistance to the left arm.

Wooster Prepares For Last Home Tilt With Akron Zippers

WOOSTER, Nov. 10. — The final home game of the Wooster college 1926 season will be played Nov. 13 with Akron University Zippers for opponents. Akron's victory over Reserve last week has impressed the Wooster team with the strength of the Rubber City crew.

Wooster fans are hoping that Big Howard Saurer, regular tackle who was injured in the Reserve victory, will be ready for this game, but there is little likelihood that he will be ready. Don Weihe is also out with a recurrence of an infection on his elbow. This kept him out of the early games of the season.

Wooster and Akron teams have battled 15 times on the gridiron. Wooster has won 12 of the games and this week, on the 13th of November are out to win the thirteenth game from Akron.

Akron sends word to Wooster that a victory here will do much to make amends for early season losses.

CHESTER BOWLERS DEFEAT EAST END

Marshall was high with a score of 173, while Patterson's 71 was the lowest.

HIGH ELEVEN IN PITTSBURGH

Guests of Richard Brian at Tech-Juanita Game.

The school players have been granted a holiday through the courtesy of Superintendent C. S. McVay and Miss Florence Updegraff, principal.

The squad will assemble at Brian's haberdashery at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. Automobiles will take them to Pittsburgh, with a trip following the game.

Would Naturalize Foreign Athletes Who Make Home Here

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—Although divided on the question, metropolitan delegates to the annual convention of the amateur athletic union's annual convention in Baltimore on Saturday may introduce a measure, barring non-citizen athletes from competing in amateur athletics in this country if they fail to take out first papers after a residence of three years. It was learned today that the twelve local delegates were divided on the issue.

Its passage by the national body would not mean the end of junkets, such as were undertaken by Paavo Nurmi and Charley Hoff during recent years but would strike at foreign athletes who have their homes in America but remain citizens of the mother country.
